Publications

Holiday Books

Other People

By C. D. GIBSON

Oblong 4to, boxed, $4.00 net; postage extra.

This, the first Gibson book since 1906, similar in size and appearance to "Our Neighbors," "The Weaker Sex," and other Gibson books, includes the most mature and finished products of the great illustrator—mainly pictures in black-and-white, but among them some heads in red chalk.

Treasure Island

By ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON

16 full-page illustrations in color by N. C. WYETH.
Large square 4to, $2.50.

There was need for an artist of deep imagination and virile style to catch and reproduce the spirit of Stevenson's swinging narrative. Mr. Wyeth has surely caught it in his seventeen full-color drawings—the cover, lining, title-page, and fourteen full-page illustrations.

Little Lord Fauntleroy

By FRANCES HODGSON BURNETT

With a new preface by the author. 12 full-page illustrations in color and 24 pen-and-ink sketches by REGINALD BIRCH. 4to, $2.00 net; postage extra.

This new edition of Mrs. Burnett's famous story is beautifully illustrated with full colored pictures by Reginald Birch, whose black-and-white representations of the Little Lord, the Earl with his Mastiff, and all the other charming characters, contributed not a little to the tremendous success of the original edition.

Fair Americans

By HARRISON FISHER

4to, boxed, $3.00 net; postage extra.

Contains sixty-seven full-page pictures of beautiful American girlhood in many of its phases—twenty-four in full color; forty-three in black-and-white.

Spanish Sketches

By EDWARD PENFIELD

32 illustrations in color by the author. $2.50 net; postage extra.

With his pen and his brush, Mr. Penfield, so thoroughly successful in his "Holland Sketches," has here caught and reproduced the very life and spirit of Spain.

The Kitten's Garden of Verses

Written and Illustrated by OLIVER HERFORD

$1.00 net; postage extra.

The author here parodies Stevenson's "Child's Garden of Verses" as cleverly and gracefully, perhaps more cleverly and gracefully, than he parodied "Omar Khayyam" in "The Rubaiyat of the Persian Kitten."

Cupid's Fair-Weather Booke

Including an Almanack for Any Two Years

By OLIVER HERFORD and JOHN CECIL CLAY

Narrow 12mo, $1.00 net; postage extra.

With many full-page and double-page colored illustrations, and innumerable smaller ones, also in color.

The Annual of the Society of Illustrators

$3.00 net; postage extra.

A single characteristic example of the work of each of its leading members, among whom are C. D. Gibson, A. B. Frost, Harrison Fisher, Philip R. Goodwin, Henry Hutt, Howard Pyle, Ernest Peixotto, Frank D. Millet, Miss Jessie Wilcox Smith, Joseph Pennell, etc.

MOTHER CAREY'S CHICKENS

By KATE DOUGLAS WIGGIN

Illustrated by ALICE BARBER STEPHENS. $1.25 net. Postage 12 cents.

Mrs. Wiggin has here created the ideal American mother, just as in "Rebecca" she created "the nicest child in American literature."

Hamilton Wright Mabie says it is "an entertaining and thoroughly inspiring story."

Readers of all ages and all tastes will love Mother Carey and sympathize with her in her trials and rejoice in her victories.

The Outlook says, "Mother Carey is one of the sweetest and truest models of motherhood imaginable."

A SAFETY MATCH

By IAN HAY, author of "The Right Stuff," "A Man's Man," etc.

Mr. Hay's new book is a distinct advance in both excellence and interest over his earlier very successful novels. The "Safety Match" in question is a marriage between the twenty-year-old daughter of an English country clergyman, who has mothered a large family of brothers and sisters, and a man of forty of the best type of the English captain of industry. The marriage of convenience thus made turns at the end, after many interesting and appealing situations, into a true love match. With frontispiece in color. $1.20 net. Postage 12 cents.

TARANTELLA

By EDITH MACVANE, author of "The Black Flier."

This tale of strong, dramatic, and very timely interest, concerns an American girl, the victim of an unfortunate marriage in this country, who later, in Italy, is loved by an Italian nobleman. The story moves to a happy conclusion through a series of moving and dramatic episodes.

Miss Macvane knows her Italy through long residence there, and as a picture of actual Italian society the book is as notable as it is a stirring novel.

Important Books of Travel

The Capitals of China

By WILLIAM EDGAR GEIL, M.A., LL.D., F.R.G.S.

Author of "The Great Wall of China," etc.

With an Introduction by
W. A. P. MARTIN, D.D., LL.D.

Ex-President of the Chinese Imperial University

Dr. Geil, the author of this pre-eminent work, is of the stamp of such men as Livingstone and Stanley. He has penetrated the heart of Africa and made important discoveries in Guinea and New Guinea. In the last six years he has been exploring China, and in two years of this time travelled from end to end of the great Chinese wall. Recently he undertook a greater task than this when he visited each of the several capitals of the eighteen provinces, mapping out their sites and collecting a mass of literature destined to form the basis of a Chinese library.

With 100 illustrations and about 12 Maps. Large 8vo.
Over 400 pages. Cloth, gilt top, $5.00 net. Postpaid, $5.25

A Woman's World Tour in a Motor

(Provisional Title)

By HARRIET WHITE FISHER

This is a striking account of a remarkable tour, of 23,000 miles in a motor car, made by Mrs. Clark-Fisher. Her experiences in many lands, among strange peoples, and in circumstances of hardship, danger, delight, and humor make this unusual book fascinating alike to the motor lover and to the other third of mankind. The volume is profusely illustrated with unusual scenes of this notable journey—the first of its kind ever undertaken and completed by a woman.

Profusely illustrated. 8vo. Cloth, $2.00 net. Postpaid, $2.20

The Old Road

By H. BELLOC

The much-traveled road from Hampshire to the Straits of Dover was recently explored by Mr. Belloc, who desired to step exactly in the footprints of his ancestors. To use his words, "to follow their hesitations at the river crossings, to climb where they have climbed to a shrine, whence they also had seen a wide plain, and to suffer the fatigue they suffered."

Illustrated profusely by William Hyde.

8vo. Cloth, gilt. Price, $2.00 net.

The Far Triumph

ELIZABETH DEJEANS' FINEST AND MOST MATURE WORK

In this story the romantic life of Esther, her struggles to overcome some of the poisonous influences of American life and her final growth to noble womanhood, holds one with a grip which shows the author ranks with the foremost American writers of to-day.

Three illustrations in color by Martin Justice. 12mo. Decorated cloth, $1.25 net. Postpaid, $1.37

In the other scene Craig Schuyler is fastening on Nell Sutphen the bracelet, which incident gives the title to

Holiday and Gift Books

Joyce of the Jasmines

By RALPH HENRY BARBOUR

Author of "The Golden Heart," "The Lilac Girl," "My Lady of the Fog," "Holly," "An Orchard Princess," "Kitty of the Roses," etc.

This is another of the sweet, picturesque, charming holiday stories so pleasantly associated with Mr. Barbour's pen. The scenes are laid in the South and "Joyce" is a lovely young southern girl to whom love comes in the guise of Philip Weld—a "northern gentleman."

Illustrated in color by Clarence F. Underwood. Marginal decorations on each page. Small quarto. Decorated cover in gold, with medallion. Cloth, gilt top, $2.00. In a box.

An Accidental Honeymoon

By DAVID POTTER

A sparkling and breezy romance of modern times, the scenes laid in Maryland. The plot is refreshingly novel and delightfully handled. The heroine is one of the "fetchingest" little persons in the realms of fiction.

Eight illustrations in color by George W. Gage. Marginal decorations on each page. 12mo. Ornamental cloth, $1.35 net. Postpaid, $1.50.

The Sensitive Plant

By PERCY BYSSHE SHELLEY

With an Introduction by Edmund Gosse. Illustrated in color by Chas. Robinson

Every year there is one book a little bit prettier than all the rest. This year we have selected Shelley's beautiful poem of fancy and dressed it in a most attractive holiday attire, specially designed by one in entire sympathy with the great poet's work.

Mr. Charles Robinson has not only created wonderful decorations but has also furnished the illustrations, which are all in color and number about thirty.

Handsomely boxed. 8vo. Cloth. Gilt top, $4.50 net.

In Château Land

By ANNE HOLLINGSWORTH WHARTON

As in her "Italian Days and Ways" and in "An English Honeymoon," Miss Wharton takes a merry party of friends upon a pleasure trip. This time it is through the storied châteaux of Touraine, stopping en route at some of the picturesque villas upon the Italian lakes.

The author dwells much upon the romances which belong to the several châteaux as well as upon the rich ornamentation and indescribable charm of the architecture of these ancient palaces of the kings and great nobles of France.

New Illustrated Juveniles

Chronicles of Fairy Land

By FERGUS HUME

These classic fairy-land chronicles have delighted many generations of children. They are exquisite and fanciful, and written in a wholesome style, such as is difficult to find in many modern fairy tales. Children will be especially pleased with the beautiful colored illustrations, which add greatly to the charm of the book.

Illustrated in color by Maria L. Kirk.

Octavo.

Decorated cloth,
$1.50.

Hans Andersen's Fairy Tales

Illustrated in color by Maria L. Kirk

In publishing this new "Hans Andersen," we have no fear as to its acceptance. Parents who wish to give children only those books which will create in the child-mind the love of what is beautiful and excellent will find in this edition everything that they wish in fine bookmaking. Maria L. Kirk has caught in her exquisite colored pictures the charm and mystery of the stories, which, printed in clear type, with broad margins, decorative head-pieces and lining papers, combine to make a book that all children will revel in.

Decorated lining-papers. Illustrated. Octavo. Decorated cloth, $1.50.

For a Girl and a Boy

The Doctor's Children

By LAURA T. MEADE

Author of "Rosa Regina," "Betty Vivian," etc.

Mrs. Meade is an author who understands the desires and aspirations of young girls. Her stories are uplifting, and a host of youthful admirers have found a world of healthful romance in her books. This new story is vivacious and charming, and written in her very best style.

Illustrated. 12mo. Cloth, $1.50.

David Crockett, Scout

By CHARLES FLETCHER ALLEN

A new volume in "The Trail Blazers Series."

Boys will read this stirring account of one of our national heroes with breathless interest. It tells of Davy's many actual adventures, and recounts numerous amusing incidents, for he had a keen sense of humor, and a big lovable nature.

Colored frontispiece and three illustrations in black and white by Frank McKernan. 12mo. Cloth, $1.50.

BLACK BEAUTY

Illustrated With Twelve Full Page Paintings by

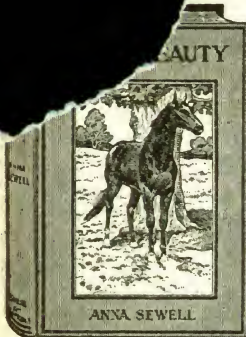

ROBERT L. DICKEY

In this new and beautiful edition of Black Beauty appear for the first time reproductions of twelve paintings from the brush of Robert L. Dickey, one of the foremost horse painters of this or any age; pictures in full color and fairly alive with life and action.

In keeping with the excellence of the illustrations this edition is, in all other respects, truly an innovation in the manufacture of Children's Books. The type is large, the plates being absolutely new, and printed on the finest quality of paper. The binding selected as being the best grade of art cloth to be had, dark green in color, with richly gold-tooled title and a cover inlay of one of Mr. Dickey's masterpieces in full color.

Cloth, size $6\frac{1}{4} \times 8\frac{3}{4}$ inches. Boxed, \$1.50

THANATOPSIS

By WILLIAM CULLEN BRYANT

The present is an edition of Bryant's masterpiece, in which the artistic embellishments and mechanical execution are worthy of the beauty and grandeur of the poem.

This is essentially a hand-made book, both the text and the illustrations being hand-printed from intaglio copper plates. Size $8\frac{1}{4} \times 11$ inches.

Japanese vellum, boxed, $5.00

Velvet calf, boxed, . 7.00

THE RAVEN

The Art Edition of The Raven, by Edgar Allan Poe, is absolutely without type or letter-press work, and shows probably the most elaborate treatment ever accorded the classic Raven. The book is about 8×10 inches, and contains hand proofs from thirteen photogravure plates, which were done from originals in oil by Mr. Calen J. Perrett, the accomplished artist.

Mr. Perrett has faithfully portrayed his idealized conception of Leonore, as well as that of the underlying theme of the poem. Size $8\frac{1}{4} \times 10$ inches.

Vellum, $3.00 Velvet calf, boxed, $5.00

THE "OPEN DOOR"

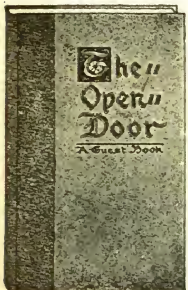

A GUEST BOOK

By CORNELIA MORTON WEYBURN

An unusually attractive book in which may be kept the autographs of one's guests and a record of events and entertainments. The paper used is of a dark brown tint, and the printing is in a lighter shade, together with borders of floral design and appropriate sentiments selected from well-known authors.

The "Open Door" is oblong in shape, and bound in boards covered with art paper, with soft ooze leather back. The stamping, done from hand-lettered plates, is in brown ink, harmonizing well with the dark cover.

Size $7 \times 10\frac{1}{2}$ inches. Boxed, \$1.50

FICTION

A story of the great Northwest which the author knows so well

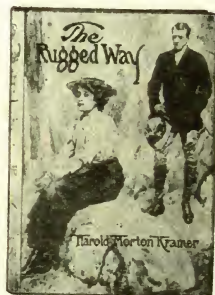

THE RUGGED WAY

By Harold Morton Kramer

Author of "The Chrysalis"

Illustrated, Net $1.35. Postpaid, $1.50

When Mr. Kramer wrote that distinct success, "The Chrysalis," able critics declared that he would do even stronger work. They were right, as this novel proves. It is a story of great wrong, great suffering, great renunciation, and great reward. Mr. Kramer has situations and scenes that bring out the deepest human emotions, and has drawn characters of daring strength, while the moral lesson of the book is no less striking than its dramatic power.

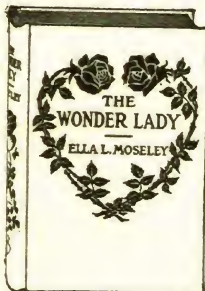

A book that needs no Book-mark

THE WONDER LADY

By Ella Lowery Moseley

Illustrated

Why does one book compel you to finish reading it, while another of far more pretensions requires effort, also a book-mark to tell where you left off?

Net, $1.00

Because the first one makes a direct and simple appeal to your heart, while at the same time constantly amusing and surprising you.

This is exactly the kind of book the "Wonder Lady" is.

A stirring and Powerful story of the great Colorado Desert of California

JOAN OF RAINBOW SPRINGS

By Frances Marian Mitchell

Illustrated, Net, $1.35

This is a novel of action, pathos, strong character-drawing, and rare descriptive power. It centres about Joan herself, a precocious girl, or there would be no story, and so bright and unusual and the centre of such uncommon happenings that there will be no rest for the reader until the book is finished.

LOTHROP, LEE & SHEPARD CO., BOSTON

BOOKS FOR BOYS

DAVE PORTER AND HIS RIVALS

Or the Chums and Foes of Oak Hall
Seventh Volume of "Dave Porter Series."

By EDWARD
STRATEMEYER

Illustrated. $1.25

Some new students at "Oak Hall" try to run things, and put Dave, the favorite hero of all boy-readers, in the background, but the "Old Guard," or Dave and his friends, come out victorious.

THE PECKS IN CAMP

Eighth Volume of "Phillips Exeter Series."

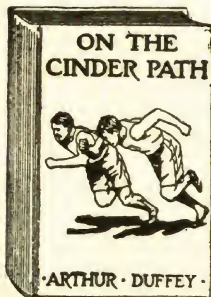

By
A. T. DUDLEY

Illustrated. $1.25

The Pecks, as all readers of previous volumes know, are twin brothers so resembling each other that it is almost impossible to tell them apart, a fact which the roguish lads make the most of.

ON THE CINDER PATH

Or Archie Hartley's First Year at Donchester

By ARTHUR
DUFFEY

Illustrated. $1.25

This book will at once attract attention through the fame of its author, who was the undisputed world's champion sprinter from 1901 to 1905. It is an exceptionally well-told description of life at a great American school for boys.

CAMP ST. DUNSTAN

Second Volume of "St. Dunstan Series."

By WARREN L. ELDRED

Illustrated. $1.50

A typical summer camp for boys, with all its routine, is described. Interesting characters are introduced, a mystery develops, and every element of a good boys' story is present. Mr. Eldred, as is well known, is an authority on work with boys, including many summers of camping.

WHAT HAPPENED AT QUASI

The Story of a Carolina Cruise

By GEORGE CARY
EGGLESTON

Illustrated. $1.50

"Quasi" is the name of a peninsula plantation on the coast of South Carolina. And things happened there which made most exciting times for four school chums who were camping there after a glorious cruise in a dory.

LARRY BURKE, SOPHOMORE

Second Volume of "Larry Burke Books."

By
FRANK I. ODELL

Illustrated. $1.25

The leading characters in this book develop along the right lines, and are worth knowing. Mr. Odell knows well how to present a picture of college life as the best type of students know it, and this story makes it easy for others to understand a college man's enthusiasm and loyalty.

By FRANCIS ROLT-WHEELER

graphs taken in Government work.

Decorated cover,
$1.50

The author enjoys the confidence and aid of the highest authorities in gathering his material. The aim of the series is to use an entertaining story form as the means for making better informed and more useful future citizens.

CHASED ACROSS THE PAMPAS

Or American Boys in Argentina, and Homeward Bound

Sixth Volume of
"Pan-American Series"

By EDWARD
STRATEMEYER
Illustrated. $1.25

The heroes are the same
bright, self-reliant youths with whom we have previously traveled in Central America, the West Indies, and the upper portion of South America.

FOUR BOYS IN THE YOSEMITE

Fifth Volume of "Our Own Land Series"

By E. T. TOMLINSON

Illustrated. $1.50

The Yosemite Valley is a national wonder and possession, with which all young Americans
ought to be familiar.
In the story are adventures, mountain-climbing, explorations, coaching, and exciting experiences among the tremendous crags and cliffs.

WINNING THE JUNIOR CUP

Or The Honor of Stub Barrows

Third Volume of "Five Chums Series"

By NORMAN BRAINERD

Illustrated. $1.25

The plot moves swiftly through class-room and dormitory life and stirring athletic contests,
and events conspire to place the hero in a position that only one of uncommon will-power
and stability of character could endure.

THE OAK STREET BOYS' CLUB

By WARREN L. ELDRED

Illustrated
Decorated cover,
$1.50

Mr. Eldred, who for years has been in charge
of boys' work in connection with Puritan
Church, Brooklyn, has also established his fame as a writer of very popular books for boys,
which are more than merely entertaining.

BOOKS FOR GIRLS

HELEN GRANT'S HARVEST YEAR

Ninth Volume of "Helen Grant Books."

By AMANDA M.
DOUGLAS

Illustrated. $1.25

This volume sees the realization of Helen's promised trip abroad, taken under very pleasant circumstances. She gets a great deal from her visits in foreign lands because she carries so much to them in the way of intelligent capacity to enjoy what she finds.

MAISIE'S MERRY CHRISTMAS

Tenth Volume of the
"Brick House Books"

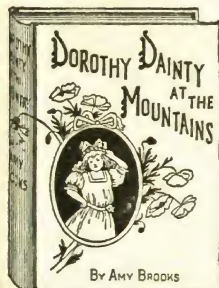

By
NINA
RHOADES

Illustrated. $1.00

This is the new volume of one of the most popular series of books for children from six to twelve years of age.

DOROTHY DAINTY AT THE MOUNTAINS

Tenth Volume of "Dorothy Dainty Series."

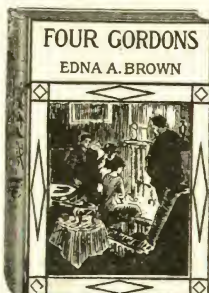

By
AMY BROOKS

Illustrated. $1.00

Each new "Dorothy Dainty" has made a new record for a first year's sale, and the demand for the earlier volumes is constantly increasing. This does not happen without a reason, which is that the little heroine is lovable, the style attractive.

FOUR GORDONS

By EDNA A. BROWN

Illustrated
Decorated cover,
$1.50

A book for girls, and boys as well, from thirteen to sixteen. Louise and her three brothers are the "Four Gordons," and the story relates their experiences at home and school during the absence of their parents for a winter in Italy.

VICTORINE'S BOOK

By NINA RHOADES

Author of the "Brick House Books."

Illustrated. $1.25

This is a book for older girls than the noted "Brick House Books" by this author, and the success of "Dorothy Brown" has already proved that Miss Rhoades is equally a favorite with all ages. Nor are her readers confined to girls.

PRUE'S MERRY TIMES

Fourth Volume of the "Prue Books"

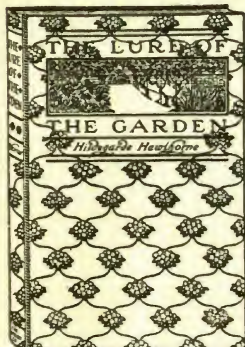

By
AMY BROOKS

Illustrated. $1.00

This is the jolliest of all the "Prue Books," and, like the others, a complete story in itself. These books are worthy companions to the "Dorothy Dainty Series," being equally attractive.

The Century Co.'s Fall List

THE LURE OF THE GARDEN

By HILDEGARDE HAWTHORNE

DUFFIELD AND COMPANY
36 WEST 37TH ST. NEW YORK

MOFFAT, YARD
AND COMPANYImportant Fall BooksMOFFAT, YARD
AND COMPANYSHAKESPEARE ON THE STAGEBy WILLIAM WINTER. Fully illustrated. 8vo. $3.00 net

This work, one of the most important, as it is also one of the most interesting books relative to any art, will be found invaluable alike to the student, the general reader and the actor.

MEMOIRS OF THEODORE THOMASBy ROSE FAY THOMAS. Fully illustrated. 8vo. $3.00 net

An adequate, brilliant and, needless to say, highly sympathetic account of the life of this great American composer and leader, by his widow. "I have endeavored," she writes in the preface "to confine my own part of the narrative to a simple relation of the sequence of events in his career and to occasional touches which might reveal something of the deeper and more intimate side of his nature known only to those who shared his home."

TWO YEARS in the FORBIDDEN CITYBy PRINCESS DER-LING (Mrs. Thaddeus C. White). Illus. 8vo. $2.00 net

An exceedingly interesting narrative of the experiences of the First Lady-in-Waiting to the late Empress Dowager of China. The Princess is the daughter of a Chinese ambassador to France, where she was educated. Upon her return to Peking she became at once the favorite of the Empress.

SOME OLD FLEMISH TOWNSBy GEORGE WHARTON EDWARDS. Large 8vo, beautifully illus., boxed. $4.00 net

This distinguished book of travel equals in beauty, information and interest the author's previous works on Holland and Brittany.

GENIUS AND OTHER ESSAYSBy EDMUND CLARENCE STEDMAN. 12mo. $1.50 net

Edited by Laura Stedman and George M. Gould, M.D. A collection of distinguished essays culled from the great body of uncollected material, the work of his maturity, left by Mr. Stedman at his death. The volume will begin with the celebrated essay on Genius which was published in the Princeton Review in 1886.

THE GIFT OF SLEEPBy BOLTON HALL. 12mo. $1.50 net

This book is intended no less for those who do sleep well as for those who do not. Many sleep well, only because they are still like little children and animals in the unconscious stage of life. This is good in itself, but later the mental life awakes when consciousness of one's self begins and examinations of one's desires develop. If not rightly understood this development brings anxiety and disturbances of sleep.

FATHER LACOMBE. THE BLACK ROBE VOYAGEURBy KATHERINE HUGHES. Illustrated. $2.50 net

This biographical story of Pere Lacombe is not written from the missionary standpoint, but from one of historical and human interest. A concise and valuable account of the making of the Northwest.

THE CONQUEST OF THE GREAT NORTHWESTBy AGNES C. LAUT. Large 12mo. Cloth, new edition, two volumes in one. $2.00 net

This new edition in one volume, published in general response to a general demand for a cheaper edition, contains all the material of the original two volume edition.

MOFFAT, YARD AND COMPANY, UNION SQUARE, NEW YORK

MOFFAT, YARD
AND COMPANYImportant Fall BooksMOFFAT, YARD
AND COMPANYTHE GIRL WHO GOES WRONG

By REGINALD WRIGHT KAUFFMAN. 12mo. $1.50 net

The facts contained in this new book by the author of "The House of Bondage" were verified by him while collecting material for that novel. Mr. Kauffman was determined to get at the facts and issue them without fear or favor. Some of these articles have appeared in Leslie's Weekly, where they attracted a great deal of attention.

LINCOLN: LOVER OF MANKIND

By ELIOT NORTON. Illustrated. 75 cents net

An essay of exquisite quality and great charm, presenting Lincoln in the quiet majesty of his entire simplicity.

DR. JOHNSON AND FANNY BURNES

By PROFESSOR CHAUNCEY TINKER, of Yale University

Illustrated. 8vo. $2.00 net

Being the Johnsonian extracts from the works of Madame d'Arblay. This is a book of great interest to all students of English literature, and particularly to the admirers of Dr. Johnson. The extracts from the works of Madame d'Arblay relating to her personal friendship with the great lexicographer have never before appeared in separate form.

CONTROL OF THE MARKET

By BRUCE WYMAN. 12mo. $1.25 net

A legal solution of the Trust Problem. This book develops the principle of State Control convincingly, presenting a solution which would result in an industrial peace.

*New FictionTHE BAUBLE

By RICHARD BARRY. 12mo. $1.25 net

This is the story of a young wife who is swept off her feet by the swift current of the "New Woman" movement in New York. To the end she remains lovable and devoted, but she passes through fire and storm to become poised and wise.

BASSET, A VILLAGE CHRONICLE

By S. G. TALLENTYRE. Boxed. $1.50 net

Gift Edition. Beautifully Decorated and Illustrated.

"Very seldom do we receive a book which gives such genuine pleasure in the reading and compels such unqualified admiration for its style and structure throughout as 'Basset.' This simple story is marked with some of the finest qualities of literature. * * * No finer bit of work, in its own class, has come under our notice in a long time."—Evening Sun, New York. A beautiful holiday edition, printed in two colors, handsomely decorated, with colored frontispiece by C. M. Burd.

WHEN MARCARET WAS A FRESHMAN

By ELIZABETH HOLLISTER HUNT. Illustrated. 12mo. $1.25 net

A bright, wholesome picture of life in a woman's college of to-day. The heroine is a western girl sent East to a New England college that she may become a self-reliant, self-supporting young woman. The story is full of interest from start to finish.

THE SUBSTITUTE PRISONER

By MAX MARCIN. Illustrated. 12mo. $1.25 net

An exciting novel of mystery by the author of "Britz of Head-quarters." A middle aged bookkeeper, out of employment, is cleverly substituted for a post-office thief caught in the act and sentenced to three years' imprisonment. The circumstances leading up to this hiring of a substitute prisoner, and the complicated events that followed, constitute an extremely exciting and mystifying story.

MOFFAT, YARD AND COMPANY, UNION SQUARE, NEW YORK

MOFFAT, YARD
AND COMPANYNew FictionMOFFAT, YARD
AND COMPANYWHEN THE RED GODS CALL

By BEATRICE GRIMSHAW. $1.35 net

is one of the finest stories of love and adventure that has been published in years, and is a novel which powerfully impresses its pictures upon imagination and memory. A strong, virile New Guinea, which Miss Grimshaw makes stand out in real Stevensonian relief. The hero is an Irishman full of red blood and red courage, a living creation. The heroine is an English girl, feminine to the marrow. The issue is love under difficulties, such difficulties as a savage land, romantically interpreted, alone can be called upon to present. It holds the reader absorbed to the end.

Books for the YoungTHE FIVE SENSES

By ANGELA M. KEYES. 8vo. $1.00 net

Illustrated in color by JESSIE WILLCOX SMITH. This is a striking gift book for children, the text made up from the most interesting and appropriate writings dealing with the senses to be found in literature. The selections have been made by a school teacher of wide experience in the choice of readings which are both attractive from the child point of view and educational in value.

THE LITTLEST REBEL

By EDWARD PEPE. Illustrated. 16mo. 75 cents net

A charming story of the Civil War, for children and their elders, containing adventure and sentiment in plenty.

THE CAT'S TEA PARTY

By LAURE CLAIRE FOUCHER. Small 16mo. 50 cents net

Illustrated in color by M. E. Grainger. The educational object of this delightful book is to interest little children in poetry by making each poem carry on an absorbing story.

NOTED SPEECHES OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN

By LILIAN M. BRIGGS, Editor of "American History in Literature Series"

Small 16mo. 75 cents net

An excellent compilation, which includes in one volume all the well-known speeches of Lincoln, with a biographical introduction.

WHEN MOTHER LETS US KEEP PETS

By CONSTANCE JOHNSON. Illustrated. 8vo. 75 cents net

This book tells the little ones how to keep their pet animals in good health and spirits, how to house and feed them, and to doctor them when ill.

WHEN MOTHER LETS US PLAY

By ANGELA M. KEYES. Fully illustrated. 75 cents net

The new "When Mother Lets Us" book deals with pantomimes, puppet shows, plays, spinning tales, rhyming, shadow pictures, "what to say" games and many other fascinating plays. The author is a highly successful teacher of teachers.

STORIES TO READ OR TELL

By LAURE CLAIRE FOUCHER. Illustrated. 12mo. $1.00 net

"The many requests from adults as well as children for stories to read and tell," writes the author in her preface, "have prompted me to compile some of the less familiar Fairy Tales and several little-known Folklore Stories, for the convenience of the story-teller and the reader, and for the enjoyment of the children."

American Standard Bible

Edited and Revised by the American Revision Committee 1901

The International Lesson Committee decided by a unanimous vote to use the text of the American Standard Bible in the uniform and new graded Sunday School Lessons because it is more true to the original and requires less explanation than any other.

This version continues to grow in popular favor, as no other translation before it ever did. The demand is so great that we have made it in all sizes of type and all styles of binding so as to meet every want. Prices from 35 cents to $50.00.

The verdict of Christian Scholarship is that the American Standard Bible is "the best version in any language."

¶ Chicago Record-Herald—It is a novel with "body," with a large and timely idea back of it, with sound principles under it, and with a good crescendo of dramatic thrills.

¶ Boston Globe—To the reader the characters will appear as real as friends they know—all of their aims, and likes, and hatreds being portrayed as true to life as snapshots caught by moving picture cameras.

¶ Cleveland Plain Dealer—"The Calling of Dan Matthews" was a fine tale, "The Shepherd of the Hills" was an inspiration. And now he sends us "The Winning of Barbara Worth"—the best thing he has done so far a twentieth century epic.

¶ Dallas News—Mr. Wright has gained a most comprehensive grasp of the social and industrial forces that are at work in the development of the Nation that not is but is to be.

The New Arnold Bennett NovelHILDA LESSWAYS

By ARNOLD BENNETT, author of "Clayhanger," "Denry the Audacious," etc.

Large 12mo, $1.50 net

This is the story of Hilda Lessways, who is seen in "Clayhanger" through the eyes of the hero. The author has in "Hilda Lessways" accomplished the difficult task of telling the woman's story and showing her point of view.

The result is a tremendously convincing piece of fiction. The work of Arnold Bennett is generally conceded to be among the best that is being written by present day novelists.

Concerning "Clayhanger," The North American Review says: "It throws into the shade all the novels of the last decade. . . . 'Clayhanger' is a very great novel."

THE LARGER GROWTH

By CONSTANCE SMEDLEY ARMFIELD

$1.35 net

A broadly sketched and convincingly realistic picture of the conflict between the old order and the new, which is now agitating our civilization, as exemplified in the development of the four children of an unusually isolated family in a small provincial town, under the electric urge of the new generation for more room, more growth, more comradeship, more freedom than their parents had.

A vital story, full of picturesque depiction of character, written by an author with humor, and a broad sympathy for the makers of to-morrow.

AL PRIDDY

THROUGH THE MILL

The Autobiography of a Boy Laborer

Not since "Up from Slavery" and "The Making of an American" has such a remarkable autobiography been offered. It is intensely human, rich in humor, and honest in pathos. In a style which suggests Dickens and De Morgan, Al Priddy tells of the abuses of child labor, the viciousness of the mill boy gang, the dramatic incidents of a great strike, and the tragedy and comedy of mill life, all as seen by a lad who has gone "through the mill" literally and figuratively.

As the author says: "While there have been innumerable objective reports concerning the life of the child laborer, the atmosphere of mill life can be reproduced only by one who has breathed it." Several chapters of this book have already been published in "The Outlook," where they attracted widespread attention. The present work is greatly enlarged.

About 300 pages. Fully illustrated with drawings by Wladyslaw T. Benda.

Price $1.35 net, postage 15 cents.

WILLIAM ALLEN KNIGHT

PETER IN THE FIRELIGHT

A friend's account of the stranger who "was standing and warming himself" by the night fire in the court of a house in Jerusalem—the man whom the maid and others kept annoying with questions until he broke down. It is a quaintly human portraiture of the fisherman from Galilee whose very foibles have endeared him all the more to so many.

96 pages. Illustrated. Price 60 cents net, postage 7 cents.

WASHINGTON GLADDEN

THE LABOR QUESTION

Dr. Gladden is well known as a friend of "Labor," and one of its best friends, since he is not a blind partisan, but a thoughtful observer and a careful student of social problems. Whatever the sympathies of the reader, he is assured that fair play and frank discussion will be given any subject which the author takes up.

WHAT THE CHURCH MEANS TO ME

Superintendent Labrador Medical Mission

A Frank Confession and a Friendly Estimate by an Insider

This book is the concluding one of the series by Dr. Grenfell revealing his personal attitude to life, to the Bible, to prayer, and now finally to the church, to the treatment of which he has given himself unreservedly and with that directness of statement and underlying sincerity which always mark his speech in public and his work with his pen. How he has succeeded in taking the point of view of both a friend and a critic of the church, this little volume shows.

Ralph Connor had the same opportunity for the display of his remarkable talent of description and romance. This is the most attractive subject yet touched upon by him, and there is every promise that this book will be his master work.

BY ROSAMOND NAPIER.

THE FAITHFUL FAILURE: A Study of Urban Nature.

12mo. Net, $1.20

Rosamond Napier in this very striking and original novel creates a lovers' world full of poignancy, color, humor and tenderness; few novelists have equalled her depiction of the wayward melancholy splendour of Nature.

LETTERS TO PATTY: A Whisper from the Land of Memory. 12mo. Decorated. Net, $1.20

This series of letters form a really remarkable book. It is a gay, brave and altogether delightful record of how a child's soul awakens to the glory of the world. It makes one long and crave for the simple pleasures of the early unspoiled years of life.

BY G. A. BIRMINGHAM.

The novels of George A. Birmingham have found an appreciative and eager public in Great Britain and Ireland. Yet so far he has not been discovered to American readers. There have been no novels written in recent years of Ireland and the Irish which in any way compare with these by Mr. Birmingham. We offer these books with the full confidence that they will make a strong appeal to American readers, for they are big, large-hearted, and genial stories, filled with vivacity and ease of narrative, which make them stand out in flattering contrast to the general output of modern fiction.

THE SEARCH PARTY: A Humorous and Clever Story of Homely People. 12mo. Net, $1.20

THE SIMPKINS PLOT: An Amazingly Clever Story—A Cross Between Anthony Hope's DOLLY DIALOGUES and Stevenson's WRONG BOX—Filled With Subtle Humor. 12mo. Net, $1.20

SPANISH GOLD: While Reminding One of the Peasant Stories of James Barrie and the Rollicking Humor of Charles Lever, this Story has Its Own Fresh and Striking Individuality Which Gives It a First Place in Novel Creations of Character. 12mo. Net, $1.20

LALAGE'S LOVERS: The Story of an Irish Minx of a Girl with all Her Flirtations and Contrarinesses, yet with all her good-hearted humor. 12mo. Net, $1.20

BY ARNOLD BENNETT.

Two volumes are added to the new uniform edition of this popular author's works.

WHOM GOD HATH JOINED. 12mo. Net, $1.20

This is an intense story of the divorce question which analyzes causes, and exposes the inefficiency and inadequacy of laws governing separation and divorce.

THE MAN FROM THE NORTH. 12mo. Net, $1.20

The story of the coming to London of the author. It is interesting as a record of impressions keenly related, and in addition is a capital story of London life as contrasted with life in Five Towns.

BY HAROLD BEGBIE.

THE CAGE: A Story of Marriage. 12mo. Net, $1.20

The book is a wholesome antidote to the divorce-court pleas of incompatibility and to the very late modern views of the marriage vow.

VAUGHAN KESTER

One may perhaps best describe The Carpet from Bagdad as an adventure romance. The scene opens in Cairo, continues in the desert and ends in New York.

The plot, starting with the theft of a rare and holy rug by an American adventurer from its Moslem owner and sold to an American collector, is MacGrath's most salient stroke of originality.

Once in ever so long there comes a romance like In the Bishop's Carriage, The Brass Bowl, or The Circular Staircase,—by a new writer, but which is such a supremely "good story" that the public with delight fairly jumps to read it. To this group belongs Secretary of Frivolous Affairs.

Norman Duncan

The Measure of a Man

"The Measure of a Man" is Mr. Duncan's first full-sized novel having a distinct motif and purpose since "Dr. Luke of the Labrador." Has a dramatic quality that is far in advance of Mr. Duncan's previous stories. The strongest story we have had of the lumber camps of the Northwest, and its heart interest is only equalled by its strength of purpose."—Book News Monthly.

Down North on the Labrador

A new collection of Labrador yarns by the man who has succeeded in making isolated Labrador a part of the known world. The New York Sun recently said: "Admirable as is the work that Mr. Grenfell is doing on the Labrador coast, the books he has written, make his readers almost wish he would give up some of it to write more." Illustrated, net $1.00

Clara E. Laughlin

The Gleaners A NOVELETTE

Again Miss Laughlin has given us a masterpiece in this story of present day life. Millet's picture, "The Gleaners," is the moving spirit of this romance and, incidentally, one catches the inspiration the artist portrays in his immortal canvas. Illustrated, net 75c.

Rupert Hughes

Author of
"Excuse Me"

Miss [318]

"A pictures of the salesgirl in a department store. Reveals under the surface her tragedy, and the philosophy of life that she must learn. There is good stuff in American womanhood; a strong rock under the shifting tides—little women like Miss 318, the queen of the bargain counter, proves it."—Book News Monthly. Illustrated, 75c.

Harold Begbie

Author of
"Twice-Born Men"

The Shadow

A new story by the novelist whose study of regeneration, "Twice Born Men," has made the world fairly gasp at its startling revelations. His latest work is careful and even brilliant study of modern life which, while it entertains, its definite purpose is to elevate and inspire. Cloth, net $1.25

A. D. Stewart

Heather and Peat

"A story of Scottish peasant life that for sweetness and pure pathos rivals 'The Bonnie Briar Bush.' On this narrative are strung, as jewels, minor characters equally as pure and sweet, and others, rougher but sound and true. It is a book to own, not merely to read and forget."—Western Christian Advocate. Cloth, net $1.20

J. J. Bell

The Indiscretions of Maister Redhorn

The thousands who have read "Wullie McWattie's Master" will need no introduction to this Scottish "penter" and his "pint o' view." The same dry Scottish humor, winning philosophy and human nature fairly overflow these pages. Illustrated, net 60c.

Marion Blythe An American Bride in Porto Rico

Author of the ROCKSPUR SERIES

Each volume illustrated with colored frontispiece and eight half-tone illustrations; handsomely bound in cloth, stamped in gold and colors. Price $1.25 per volume.

CLIF STIRLING, CAPTAIN ON THE NINE. An exciting story of the events at Fairfield Academy during the baseball season. The description of the games for the championship with Belmont High School at the end of the season will appeal to any boy who is interested in school sports.

"Everyone who enjoys a lively, well-played game of baseball will find plenty in this book to thrill him. As a boy reader expresses it, you can fairly see the plays made and watch what each player is about."—Young People's Weekly, Elgin, Ill.

"I have read your book 'Clif Stirling, Captain of the Nine,' and enjoyed it very much. The story is a good one and should appeal to all young men who are in any way interested in athletic sports."—HARRY H. DAVIS, Captain Philadelphia Athletics, 1910 World's Champions.

CLIF STIRLING BEHIND THE LINE. A capital story of the football season at Fairfield. Introducing "The New Boy," Arthur Gregory, who was regarded as a quitter, but saves the championship by his good play in the final game.

"It is a stirring story of boy life on the athletic field, just the kind of a story the real boy likes, and just the kind for him; clean, wholesome and entirely within his range."—Pittsburg Dispatch, June 11, 1911.

"The manly way in which the youth acts under all sorts of conditions commends him to everyone. So 'Clif Stirling Behind the Line' will be much appreciated."—The Boston Globe, May 20, 1911.

BOSTON, July 22, 1911.

HURST & CO., New York, N. Y.

GENTLEMEN: I have read a copy of "Boy Scouts of the Eagle Patrol" published by you.

I consider it one of the best boy's books I have ever read, and while it is particularly related to the Boy Scout movement, covering as it does almost the entire range of Boy Scout activities, it is just the sort of literature every boy ought to read. Better than this, it is just the sort of book every boy will read if he can get hold of it. In this particular it is like the Scout movement—it appeals to the real live boy.

I trust you will give us more of this same sort.

Yours truly,

E. F. McLEAN, Pres.

By

Lena May McCauley

The Joy of Gardens is a wonderful little book—the work of a true interpreter of nature. In it we feel the coming of the spring, the warming of the air; we scent the faint, sweet odor of green things growing—know all about the outdoor joys of the changing seasons. The little book is the very artistry of gardening—no hard and fast directions for planting, but just an easy, beautiful development of outdoor scenes, leading the reader to model his garden after the picture the author paints. Illustrated with exquisite colored photographs of fair gardens.

HIAWATHA (Player's Edition)

By Henry W. Longfellow

INTRODUCTION BY FRANK W. GUNSAULUS

A beautiful edition illustrated with unusual photographs by Grace Chandler Horn. Taken from life among the Ojibwas, they give us the very characters, the very scenes so beautifully sung in Longfellow's poem. Minnehaha, Hiawatha, as a baby, child, and man; the beautiful woods; "the luminous water" are brought before us with startling and life-like vividness. The natural theater is also shown in which, as a play, Hiawatha was so remarkably given by full-blooded Ojibwa Indians not so long ago over the Canadian border. From this representation the edition takes its name. Frontispiece of Minnehaha and eight full pages tinted.

Barbour, Ralph H.

Team-murders; with il. by C. M. Relyea. N. Y., Century Co., '11. (S30) c. '10-'11. 6+381 p. D. $1.50.

John William Bolland, nicknamed Cal, Ned, Brent, Dutch, Sandy, The Fungus, Spud, are all new characters that have not appeared in any of Mr. Barbour's previous books. They have plenty of fun at Oak Park School, some adventures, and, of course, many exciting foot-ball games. Molly is in the story, too—the boys call her the "Obnoxious Kid" when she first begins to tease them, but end by voting her a good chum.

Barker, Aldred Farrer.

Textiles; with chapters on the mercerized and artificial fibres and the dyeing of textile materials, by W. M. Gardner; silk throwing and spinning, by R. Snow; the cotton industry, by W. H. Cook; the linen industry, by F. Bradbury. N. Y., Van Nostrand, '10, [11.] (S30) 12+375 p. il. fold tab. O. $2 n.

Bartlett, F. Orin.

The forest castaways; il. by G. Varian. N. Y., Century Co., '11. (S30) c. 392 p. D. $1.50.

Two boys, up in the Maine woods for a winter's holiday, are lost in the snow-covered wilds. They finally stumble upon a deserted camp, which contains supplies for their immediate needs. Out of the woods comes a strange, starving creature to join them. From the first the boys' suspicions are roused by "Bill's" curious behavior; but he proves a good woods comrade, and when one of the lads is injured by a wildcat, Bill's rough nursing and kindness and his bravery know no limits. The boys are finally rescued through "Bill's" courage, and then "Bill" is forced to confess that he is an escaped convict. But it is proved that he was unjustly imprisoned, and the story ends happily for all.

Beach, E. Latimer.

Ensign Ralph Osborn; the story of his trials and triumphs in a battleship's engine room; il. by Fk. T. Merrill. Bost., Wilde, [11.] (S30) c. 338 p. D. (U. S. Navy ser.) $1.50.

The preceding two stories prepared Ralph Osborn for the practical duties on board a first-class American man-of-war, when he was promoted to be an ensign in the service.

Beech, Merwyn Worcester Howard.

The Suk: their language and folklore; with introd. by Sir C. Eliot. [N. Y., Oxford Univ.,] '11. (S30) 24+149 p. pls. O. $4.15 n.

Author was for over a year acting District Commissioner of Baringo, East Africa, and made the investigations recorded in this volume during that time. East equatorial Africa is the home of a group of tribes which cannot be called either Bantu or Hamitic. The group contains at least two sub-groups, one inhabiting the banks of the Nile and shores of Lake Victoria, the other, to which the Suk belongs, has its headquarters in the highlands of British East Africa Protectorate, and also extends into German territory. These are the people whose folklore and language are treated here.

Benson, E. Frederic.

Margery. Garden City, N. Y., Doubleday, Page, '11. (S30) c. '10. 384 p. D. $1.20, fixed.

Margery is a joyous, happy girl who has been brought up by an aunt who neither understands nor cares for her. The girl falls whole-heartedly in love with Arnold Leveson, a rich scholar, absorbed in himself and his work, and marries him instead of her former playfellow, her cousin, Walter Morrison. Arnold gives what affection he is capable of to his wife, while she lavishes a wealth of love upon him, but at last comes to realize his limitations and to understand the true nobility of her cousin's love for her. In the end real happiness comes to Margery.

Benton, Caroline French, [pseud. for Mrs. Caroline Benedict Burrell.]

Buckrose, Mrs. J. E.

Love in a little town. N. Y., Putnam, '11. (S30) c. 4+360 p. front. D. $1.35 n.
By the author of "Down our street." Celia Bassingdale's grandfather, with whom she lives, sends her away to stay with some poor relations of his in order to test a young man whom he believes wishes to marry her for money. During her stay with the Wallerbys Celia learns much of the true values of life, and that luxury and indulgence don't mean happiness. She finds the right man in her little town and all ends happily. The Wallerbys and their friends are amusingly drawn. The scene is laid in England.

Caldwell's boys and girls at home; stories and verses by Evelyn Sharp and others; pictures by Gordon Browne and others. Bost., Caldwell, '11. (S30) 191 p. Q. bds., $1.25.

Carter, J: Wesley.

From the heights. Chic., McClurg, '11. (S30) c. 41 p. front. nar. D. pap., 50 c. n., boxed.

An essay drawing a comparison between the summit of Mt. Rainier and the spiritual heights which man should try to reach, leaving the fogs of selfishness far below. The volume is made up as a gift-book.

Cartwright, G:

Captain Cartwright and his Labrador journal; ed. by C: Wendell Townsend; with an introd. by Wilfred T. Grenfell; il. from old engravings, photographs and a map. Bost., Estes, '11. (S30) c. 33+385 p. pls. pors. fold. chart, O. $2.

These journals, detailing the experience during nearly sixteen years of this pioneer settler and trader on the inhospitable but interesting Labrador coast, are a mine of valuable information. They reveal his tact and justice in dealing with the natives; his accurate and painstaking studies at first hand of the furbearing animals, water-birds and botanical species of the then new and unknown country; likewise in experiences of the labor difficulties of the day and adventures with American privateers during the Revolution. Dr. Townsend, the editor has written "Along the Labrador coast," "A Labrador spring," etc.

Chamberlin, Georgia Louise.

The Hebrew prophets; or, patriots and leaders of Israel; a text-book for students in secondary schools and for popular study. Chic., Univ. of Chic., ['11.] (S30) c. 14+237 p. il. maps, O. (Constructive Bible studies.) $1 n.

Volume is intended for the use of pupils in about the third year of the academy or high school. It is intended as a study of the development of the religious life and thought of the Hebrew people through their great men.

China. Imperial Maritime Customs.

The soya bean of Manchuria; published by order of the Inspector of General Customs. N. Y., Stechert, '11. (S30) 32 p. il. maps, Q. (Special ser.) pap., 75 c. n.

The Soya bean is equal to tea in importance in the list of exports, and with the addition of bean cake even challenges silk at the top of the list. This fact seems to call for some inquiry into the history and present position of the trade, and this pamphlet is an attempt to answer this inquiry by supplying particulars of the bean considered agriculturally, its uses in consumption, and of the history of the commercial dealings in the article for the last fifty years. Appendix.

Clark, Mrs. Sue Ainslie, and Wyatt, Edith.

Making both ends meet; the income and outlay of New York working girls. N. Y.,

Macmillan, '11. (S30) c. 13+270 p. front. D. $1.50 n.

This book is composed of the economic records of self-supporting women living away from home in New York. Their chronicles were given to the National Consumers' League simply as a testimony to truth. Shirtwaist makers' strike, Income and outlay of New York factory workers, Cloak makers' strike, Women laundry workers, and Scientific management are among the chapter headings.

Cody, Grace Ethelwyn.

Elinor's junior hop. N. Y., Appleton, '11. (S30) c. 292 p. col. pls. D. $1.50.

Elinor Halbert is invited by her brother Rodney to be his guest at his fraternity house during the festivities connected with Junior Hop. At first it seems as if Elinor cannot go for lack of the needful clothes; but her younger sister Betty, her mother, Rosalie Barnes, Joanna the maid, and Blanche Gross put their heads together, with the result that on the appointed day Elinor starts off in triumph. The dance itself, the sleigh rides, the amateur theatricals, and the many other good times connected with the house party occupy more than half the book, and introduce Elinor and the reader to a score of charming people.

Coleman, Gilbert Payson.

A captain at fifteen. N. Y., Appleton, '11. (S30) c. 309 p. col. pls. D. $1.50.

This is a story of the extraordinary adventures that befell Joshua Barney during his earliest years at sea, at the time of the Revolutionary war. He shipped as second mate on the brig "Cormorant," to sail from Baltimore to the Mediterranean. The first mate left the ship at Norfolk; the captain died; and Barney, only fifteen years old, was master of the ship and responsible for the safe delivery of her cargo at Nice. Everything in the book is true, though written in the form of fiction.

Coombs, Fs. Lovell.

Young Crusoes of the sky; il. by Edn. F. Bayha. N. Y., Century Co., '11. (S30) c. 380 p. D. $1.50.

This is the lively kind of adventure story for boys. Three lads, Dick Reynolds, Lincoln Adams and Bob Colbourne, through a boyish prank, are carried away from Toronto in a big balloon. After many adventurous experiences they land on a plateau in the Mountains of Mexico. There they have real and exciting adventures—building a tree house, fighting Indians, making their wits help them to food, and, finally, escape in their balloon.

Corelli, Marie.

The life everlasting; a reality of romance. N. Y., Doran, '11. (S30) c. 439 p. D. $1.35 n.

Miss Corelli returns in this book to the occult and psychic realms of her "The romance of two worlds," "Ardath," etc. It is an excursion into the realm beyond this material world, and deals with a strange love affair of both mortal and immortal passion. The book is the story of a spiritual adventure, and propounds some conjectures as to the causes of life and death.

Cowper, W.

A selection from Cowper's letters; ed. by E. V. Lucas; with notes by M. L. Milford. N. Y., Oxford Univ., '11. (S30) 38+556 p. S. $1 n.

Crawford, Raymond, M.D.

The king's evil. [N. Y., Oxford Univ.,] '11. (S30) 187 p. (3 p. bibl.) pls. fold. pl. O. $2.90 n.

Volume presents, in ampler form, Dr. Crawford's Fitzpatrick lectures at the Royal College of Physicians, 1911. They deal with the history of the old belief in the efficacy of the king's touch in the curing of king's evil, or scrofula. An appendix gives proclamations on the subject, issued by various sovereigns.

Davenport, H: McHarg.

The likable chap; a story of prep. school life; with il. by A. D. Rahn. N. Y., Sturgis & W., '11. (S30) c. 308 p. D. $1.20 n.

A story of boarding-school life for boys. The hero is a little westerner who is anything but a "mollycoddle," and is a fine, straightforward, real boy.

Daviess, Maria Thompson.

The Rose of Old Harpeth. Indianapolis, Bobbs-Merrill, '11. (S30) c. 312 p. D. $1.25 n.

By the author of "Miss Selina Lue," "The road to Providence," "Old Harpeth on the Providence Road in the South is the scene of the story. Rose is a lovely girl, the main support and comfort of three old people and a little boy. To them comes a young mining expert who is injured, and they cure him of his hurts and also of a world-weary cynicism. He finds cobalt on their place, and is able to save it from the hands of a grasping, so-called friend who covets it and Rose. Happiness comes to Rose through the engineer.

Deland, Ellen Douglas.

The girls of Dudley School. N. Y., Appleton, '11. (S30) c. 7+318 p. col. pls. D. $1.50.

Narrates what befell Angelica Stafford and her friends during one school year. There are all sorts of good times, relieved by a few exciting incidents.

Deland, Marg. Wade Campbell, [Mrs. Lorin Fuller Deland.]

The iron woman; with il. by F. Wa. Taylor. N. Y., Harper, '11. (S30) c. '10. 477 p. D. $1.35 n.

The title character is a stern, rugged woman, Sarah Maitland, who runs an iron-works in Mercer, not far from Old Chester. The story opens with the childhood of two girls and two boys. One of the boys is David of "The awakening of Helena Richie." David, Elizabeth Ferguson and the Maitland children are always together. Blair Maitland and Elizabeth have a boy-and-girl affair of short duration. He goes away to college, and then David and Elizabeth fall rapturously in love. He is tremendously independent, determined to make his own way. Elizabeth inherits a little money and wants to be married at once. He writes back coldly that he cannot take her money. Then Elizabeth falls into one of her frantic rages. Blair Maitland, who has come home from college, basely takes advantage of her state of mind and persuades her to run away and marry him as a revenge upon David. The older people of the story are now brought face to face with this terrible situation and with their own mistakes and weaknesses.

Diver, Maud.

Awakening; a study in possibilities. N. Y., J: Lane, '11. (S30) c. 432 p. D. $1.30, fixed.

The marriage of the only daughter of a high-caste cultivated Hindu to the scion of an old English house is the theme of the story. The author portrays the Hindu girl's reception at the hand of her husband's English relatives, her success in overcoming obstacles and clearing for herself a smooth way through the thorny path of life in a foreign country among strange people of (to her) incomprehensible views of life, and ultimate triumph of right and justice over prejudice and narrowmindedness.

Douglas, Lord Alfred Bruce.

The city of the soul; [poems.] [3d ed.] N. Y., J: Lane, '11. (S30) 15+133 p. D. $1.50 n.

Dubois, Paul, M.D.

Reason and sentiment; an address delivered in the Aula of the University of Berne, March 3, 1910; auth. tr. by E. G. Richards. N. Y., Funk & W., '11. (S30) c. 82 p. D. 50 c. n.

"To understand rightly the mechanism of our mental life is of capital importance for our conduct in life, and I believe ignorance of these things to be the source of disaster to many," says Dr. Dubois in this book. An instructive discussion of the relative value of reason and sentiment in determining the moral side of the springs of our daily actions. When sentiment and when reason should determine our line of conduct is clearly set forth. The author gives us some useful information on the effects of a well-regulated mind as the basis of a well-balanced judgment.

Earle, S. C., and others.

Sentences and their elements. 2d ed., rev. and enl. N. Y., Macmillan, '11. (S30) c. '10-'11. 21+164 p. S. 80 c. n.

Authors are teachers of English in the Engineering School, Tufts College.

Ellis, J. Breckenridge.

Something else; a novel; with il. by Ernest L. Blumenschein. Chic., McClurg, '11. (S30) c. 438 p. O. $1.35 n.

By the author of "The dread and fear of kings," "The Holland wolves," etc. A story of New York life to-day. Irving Payne has been brought up by a tugboat captain and his wife, and has never known anything concerning his parents. Coming to New York to earn his living he comes in contact with an engaging tramp, who confides in him that he was once the husband of one of society's leaders. Irving meets this woman and her family, and there is a wonderful resemblance between him and her son. The mystery surrounding the youth is at last cleared away, revealing a tragedy in his parents' lives, which led to their letting him go when a baby. A love story runs through the book, which is full of quaint humor and humanity.

English church manuals; ed. by Rev. J. C. Wright and others. v. 24, Our Lord's work in heaven. N. Y., Longmans, '11. (S30) 32 p. S. pap., per doz., assorted, 40 c. n.; per 100, assorted, $3 n.

Fitch, G.

At good old Siwash. Bost., Little, Brown, '11. (S30) c. '10-'11. 12+309 p. D. $1.25 n.

Rollicking reminiscences of undergraduate days at Siwash College, supposedly "half a day from Chicago by parlor car." Fraternity initiations, football coaching and gridiron contests, the distressing results—to undergraduates—of faculty interest in athletics, the seeming unreasonableness of the local police, the various means by which college boys relieve dull monotony and escape the consequences. The stories have appeared in the Saturday Evening Post.

Gibbs, G. Fort.

The forbidden way. N. Y., Appleton, '11. (S30) c. 387 p. pls. D. $1.25 n.

By the author of "The bolted door." A story of fashionable society life in New York and outdoor life on a great estate on Long Island. The story opens in a western mining camp. Jeff Wray, a big, overbearing westerner, who does not know who his father is, marries a charming girl who is more taken with Cortland Bent, the son of a rich easterner. Wray becomes rich quickly and they go to New York, where Camella once more meets Bent and fancies she cares for him. Both Wray and his wife give each other cause for misunderstanding, but at last they find happiness, but only after bitter struggles. Business deals bring Wray in contact with his father and the mystery is cleared up.

Hughan, Jessie Wallace.

American socialism of the present day; with an introd. by J. Spargo. N. Y., J. Lane, '11. (S30) c. 10+265 p. D. $1.25 n.

The question, "what is American socialism?" is here answered by one who is at the same time a university-trained economist and an active member of the Socialist party. The writer takes up in turn the relation of Marxian doctrine to the American movement, the modern conception of the Socialist commonwealth, and the immediate demands of the Socialist party, illustrating each by quotations from American leaders and platforms. Finally, there is attempted an analysis of the organization and tactics of the American Socialist parties, and an explanation of certain controversies at present existing within their ranks. The volume is designed to fill the existing need for a text-book of Socialism in American colleges and study-classes.

McCarter, Mrs. Marg. Hill.

The peace of the Solomon Valley. Chic., McClurg, '11. (S30) c. 91 p. nar. O. pap., 50 c. n., boxed.

These letters tell the story of how a father in New York City sends his rheumatic son for a six-months' stay on the ranch of an old Yale College chum living in the Solomon Valley. The son, preferring a trip to Europe, is indignant and goes West expecting to find it still "wild and woolly." How he is disappointed in his expectations and fails in love with the farmer's daughter and how they give up their "careers"—the boy, a business life on Wall Street, and the girl a musical education in Europe—for the simple life of a western Kansas farm, is all told in a pleasing manner. The book has been gotten up especially for the holiday trade.

It is a vivacious account, full of humor, of the experiences of the long voyage in storm and sunshine, of the rude comforts and discomforts, and of the interesting types in the ship's company. Two love stories run through the book.

Morrison, Arth.

The painters of Japan. In 2 v. N. Y., Stokes, ['11.] (S30) 14+152; 10+127 p. pls. col. pls. F. $35 n.; ed. de luxe, $70 n.

Mr. Morrison has had long personal training with at least two of the most eminent Japanese experts in art, and has a wide acquaintance with modern Japanese artists. His book covers the whole subject of Japanese painting accurately and completely. The older schools occupy a space proportionate to their importance, and many great painters never treated before in a western work are fully dealt with. The illustrations, both in color and black and white, are remarkably fine reproductions from the various artists' work.

The directions are so explicit that they may be carried out by persons who have not been trained as chemists. There is a statement of legal requirements for pure foods.

Oxenham, J.

The coil of Carne. N. Y., J. Lane, '11. (S30) 10+395 p. D. $1.25, fixed.

By the author of "The long road." The story dates back to the days of Napoleon I., in whose service the heir to the House of Carne took up arms after his flight from London, where in a wild carousal he had killed one of his comrades. About this time there were born at Carne two boys, one the son and future heir, the other the son of the housekeeper's daughter, who claimed the young master, Denzil Carron, as the boy's father. Denzil's wife died upon the birth of her son and the two boys become the charge of the old housekeeper and her daughter, who alone know which of the two is the heir. Complications and strange situations arise from this mystery and make up this story of love and war. The later scenes of the book are laid in the Crimea.

Ponafidine, Pierre.

Life in the Moslem East; tr. from the Russian by Emma Cochran Ponafidine. N. Y., Dodd, Mead, '11. (S30) c. 13+429 p. O. $4 n., boxed.

Author is Russian Imperial Consul at Constantinople; the translation is made by his wife. Bagdad, the city of the benevolent Caliph Haroun-al-Raschid; the ancient country of Mesopotamia, round about it; Mecca, Medina and certain remote parts of Asia Minor and Persia have furnished the material for this book. It gives you the matured observations of one who has spent twenty-five years of his life in the region he describes. By pen and camera Mr. Ponafidine brings before the reader the city of the Arabian Nights, and the country of the oldest part of the Old Testament. He presents vivid pictures of this intensely Mohammedan portion of the world as it is to-day, and has a great deal to say about Mohammedanism, its history, sects, orders, practices, etc., which will make his book of interest to the general reader and of value to the student.

The present volume, he says, embraces the science of biology in its widest sense.

Stevens, I: N.

An American suffragette; a novel. N. Y., W. Rieck & Co., '11. (S30) c. 248 p. D. $1.20 n.

Dr. John Earl, who by combining Christian Science and New Thought methods with the thoroughness of science, has achieved marvellous results, is engaged to an attractive but very conservative society girl, Leonora Kimball. He becomes interested in the cause of woman suffrage through the influence of Sylvia Holland, of whom Leonora disapproves. Suddenly Dr. Earl is accused of murder. Sylvia Holland, who is an experienced lawyer, defends his case, which seems at first hopeless. At a critical time surprising evidence is found, and the way is open for a happy ending, with the modern woman triumphant.

Wister, Owen.

Padre Ignacio; or, the song of temptation. N. Y., Harper, '11. (S30) c. '01-'11. 67 p. front. D. 50 c. n.

On the Californian coast, at the parish of Santa Ysabel del Mar, Padre Ignacio, once a member of the gay world of Paris, has found "contentment in renunciation." The death of a beloved wife had led him into the priesthood and this out-of-the-way sheep-fold. His one joy was in music. Temptation comes upon him in the shape of Gaston Villere, a well-bred, cultivated American from New Orleans, bound for the gold-fields. Gaston protests against the waste of such a man in such humble surroundings. After Gaston's departure, Padre Ignacio's longing to return to the European world becomes so strong that he determines to sail away by the brigantine which in 1855 was the only means of communication with the outside world. A bag of gold dust and a letter from Gaston are handed to him, and he reads that Villere, tried and softened by sorrow, and about to die, has come to realize the beauty of Padre Ignacio's active life of renunciation.

Mr. Wright has lived in the great desert for the past four years, engaged with other pioneers in reclaiming the barren and waste lands, and so knows from personal experience the life he depicts. A young civil engineer is the hero, and Barbara Worth, about whom there is a mystery, is the heroine; but before they win their happiness many things happen.

Wylie, Ida Alena Ross.

Dividing waters. Indianapolis, Bobbs-Merrill, ['11.] (S30) c. 394 p. D. $1.25 n.

By the author of "The native born." Nora Ingestre, a girl intensely English in her feelings and prejudices, marries a German officer and goes to live in Berlin. At first she is too happy to feel the great differences between her nation and her husband's, differences which exist in social as well as governmental relations. It takes some very deep trials, which threaten complete and tragic shipwreck, before Nora learns that her husband's country, people, and interests must be her's if life is to be bearable. The readiness of Germany and England for war are discussed, the author feeling that the latter country is all too unprepared.

The Publishers' Weekly

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT

September 30, 1911

The editor is not responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

Publishers should send books promptly for weekly record and descriptive annotation, if possible in advance of publication. The Record of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalog," and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THIS FALL—A BOOKTRADE OPPORTUNITY.

It is always venturesome to attempt an analysis of booktrade conditions; still more venturesome to hazard a prophecy. Yet the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY believes that the booktrade of this country has before it this fall an opportunity greater than it has had in years of turning the reading public to the reading and buying of books. And it believes furthermore that this opportunity will be taken advantage of, to their profit, by an unusually large proportion of booksellers.

There are several factors combining to render possible at least, if not probable, an unusually good book selling season this fall.

The dealer, for the first time in years, is assured, through the practically universal extension of the net price system, of the possibility of a fair profit on the goods he sells. Two years ago roughly 20 per cent. of all trade fiction was net; this fall approximately 96 per cent. of it is net, and that difference is significant of a very real and fundamental change in booktrade conditions.

Equally significant is the change—not yet entirely accomplished, it is true, but still fast spreading—in the spirit of the trade. A new interest in selling methods is everywhere manifest; an alertness of outlook; a cordiality of co-operation that is beginning to bear fruit. The trade can now, as they have not in a long time, really get together; can analyze their common difficulties, and, by common effort, effect remedies.

So far as external financial conditions will affect book selling this fall, they are probably, on the whole, not unfavorable to it. The past half year has seen falling prices in market securities, a fall gaining in cumulative force during the last two weeks. For this, crops slightly below normal because of weather conditions, rumors of "trust" disintegrations, the unfortunate failure of Canadian reciprocity, and a period of general retrenchment have all been responsible. Yet none of these things are, in themselves, serious: the business of the country is indubitably on a sounder basis—because it has so "set its house in order"—than it was six months ago; and the upward swing, when it comes, will be so much the surer and more soundly based.

It has been the opinion of excellent judges of booktrade conditions, however, that a general ebb in general business has often marked an encouraging condition in the holiday booktrade. The theory of retail buyers has seemed to be, very evidently, that, from a gift standpoint at least, books represent an economy. Business this fall therefore should be especially good in the East and larger centres generally. The West and far West may experience a slight recession from last fall's high water mark; but, again, may very well not. At any event, for the first time in several seasons, Eastern business will probably show up better than Western.

Apparently, so far as the general public's book buying is concerned, we are passing into a new upward cycle. Relatively the last decade seems to have seen a falling off of individual book sales: one hundred thousand copy first editions are exceedingly rare nowadays. Just where the blame for this condition is to be put is hard to say. The greatly increased number of book titles has undoubtedly scattered purchases more widely; the number of trade novels, for instance, having perhaps trebled in the last ten years. The rise of the bookstore circulating library has probably affected more or less the sales of books. The flood three years ago of novels of questionable type, from which the trade has now happily emerged, may have done its part in alienating temporarily a large body of regular book readers and buyers.

In any event there are signs that the tide is turning. The public library and the circulating library are educating a new body of book readers—and every book reader becomes sooner or later a book buyer. Another body of book readers and book buyers is being educated by the inexpensive but excellent reprints of the Everyman's Library type. That is one of the best things about the book reading habit, that, once acquired, it becomes, gradually but automatically, a book buying habit.

It is, however, in the province of the bookseller to foster that habit. If one good turn ever deserved another, certainly the sale of one book should lead to the sale of another. Let the booktrade assume enthusiastically that 1911-12 is going to be a book year—never were there better books to “push” than are offered this season—and then by practice and precept, each alike contagious, let every member of the trade—publisher, travelling salesman, bookseller, clerk and office boy—work to make it a book year!

WANTED: A NEW MEDIUM OF LITERARY EXPRESSION.

WHEN a man sets out to write, he finds certain established forms of expression waiting to be selected. There is the drama, the essay, the poem, the “article,” and the novel—each with its specific variations. He chooses the form which will suit his purpose best and he works more or less upon the lines which literary tradition has laid down.

In practically every case the writer takes it for granted that the established forms are the only ones available. His ambition may be to clothe one of these forms in stronger or more beautiful language than any of his predecessors, but he seldom sets himself to create or even to imagine a new form which might be more effective for particular ends than one of the traditional forms.

It is an interesting question, says Adams Gowan Whyte, in the current Book Monthly, whether we are justified in assuming that such a new form is beyond the range of possibility. Literature is in a state of continual evolution; and some of its products—notably the novel—are of comparatively recent origin. On general grounds, therefore, it would not be safe to deny that a new and distinct type might not be evolved by a genius to-day or to-morrow.

In music, painting, and the drama there has been a marked sign of revolt from conventions which used to be regarded as essential and unassailable principles. Some recent musical compositions have employed certain tones and harmonies (by courtesy) which are new to music and, according to some people, quite foreign to it. There has been an attempt to make music descriptive of actual events rather than merely expressive of emotions.

In painting the revolt has been more emphatic, if not actually outrageous. The latest work of some of the French Primitives or Expressionists (or whatever else they choose to call themselves) nearly always excites laughter, hearty and unrestrained, when it is seen for the first time. After amusement comes amazement that men could solemnly commit such daubs in the name of Art. The pictures look like the first feeble attempt of children with no artistic ability whatever. Yet we are assured by critics that some of the Primitives are accomplished artists; and if we assert that the pictures are “not in the least like anything,” the answer comes back that most people get their ideas of reality from pictures, not from personal observation. Because artists in the past have used paint in a certain way to give the illusion of reality or to inspire emotion, there is no reason why one should not use it in another way. The way may seem bizarre or absurd to us now, but in the course of time we may become educated up to appreciate the new medium. We are reminded of Whistler and “the paint-pot flung in the face of the public.” We are solemnly warned not to imitate our ancestors in heaping scorn upon what has been held up to adoration by later generations.

In drama there has been a similar revolt—without, however, going so far as to ask us to adore what every healthy instinct declares to be ugly and ludicrous. Some modern playwrights have thrown Aristotle overboard and produced plays in which almost every ordinary idea of the dramatic is either outraged or ignored. Only the unities of time and place are observed, by the simple process of having a number of people talking away steadily, the curtain being dropped now and again to enable them and the audience to take breath. Apart from the limits of human endurance, there seems no reason why they should not go on talking forever, and thus, by sheer persistence, achieve for the “play” an immortality denied to it in another direction.

Literature has been comparatively free from such touches of enterprise—or anarchy. Even in poetry, which is more susceptible than prose to inspired experiments, there has been nothing bold enough to be described as a new medium since Walt Whitman became a law unto himself in prosody as in life. And even his medium may be regarded as a reversion to the early type when men were accustomed to pick up a harp and extemporize in language which had a little more rhythm than prose and somewhat less than verse.

Whitman has had no imitators; and the majority of writers have probably never felt any deliberate revolt against the limitations of existing mediums. They have accepted these mediums and adapted themselves to them, without seeking to evolve a medium suited to their direct inspiration. Yet the frequency with which writers turn to poetry for the expression of thoughts and feelings for which prose seems to them inadequate, is suggestive. Poetry is admittedly the most difficult of all mediums, demanding a rigor of language and a care in construction which few writers can combine with the exaltation of ideas and emotions which poetry alone seems able to express.

The combination of poetry and music in opera reaches perhaps the highest level of expression, although in practice the music usually predominates, sometimes to the virtual suppression of the sense. But no opera, no poetry, and certainly no prose, ever reproduced the full intensity of intellectual sensation which comes to an imaginative mind in moments of inspiration. The difficulty of conveying ideas and emotions may be inherent in the nature of things, but it may, on the other hand, be susceptible of reduction by the evolution of a medium which escapes some of the limitations of poetry, prose and the drama.

It is admittedly much easier to suggest the possibility and the value of a new medium than to indicate the direction in which it may be sought. And it will probably come—if ever—by spontaneous development, as the novel, the essay, and the other mediums have come. But something will be gained if the thoughts of writers are directed to the theoretical opportunity of discovering a new medium for the expression of those thoughts and emotions which seem to lose so much life and color in transmission from the realm of imagination to the world where they have to conform to an established code of rules and regulations.

A LONDON BOOK AUCTION IN THE OLDEN TIME.

EVERY bibliophile faces the stern fact that, sooner or later, he must part with his cherished books. He must bequeath, give them away or sell them. If through either necessity or choice the latter alternative is presented to him, experience appears to show that a well-conducted auction sale most satisfactorily to all concerned accomplishes the dispersion of a library, especially of a well-known and important one. An auction sale, it is true, is a lottery to some extent, but it is on record that even in times of financial stress fine and rare books bring more rather than less than their original cost or present appraised value when offered at public auction, a method of selling books first introduced by the Elzevirs at Leyden and Amsterdam as early as the year 1604, but not adopted in England until seventy years later.

John Lawler, the principal book cataloguer in 1898 at Sotheby's in London, says in his "Book-Auctions in England in the Seventeenth Century," that the honor of introducing into England the method of selling books by auction belongs to William Cooper, bookseller and publisher at the sign of the "Pelican" in Little Britain. His first book auction catalogue, a small quarto volume of 137 pages, issued in October, 1676, was that of the library of Dr. Lazarus Seaman, which contained 15,000 or 20,000 volumes and realized about £3000. In this sale a copy of Holland's "Heroologia," with the portraits by Passe, brought 7s. Edward VI's "Prayer Book" of 1552, 16s., and Queen Mary's "Prayer Book" in Latin and English, 1555, 3s. These prices manifest, as Mr. Lawler observes, "the indifference, not to say contempt, with which that class of early English literature not theological, now so dearly prized and highly priced, was regarded by book collectors in the seventeenth century."

This catalogue of the Seaman library, like those which succeeded it for many years, is nothing more than a check list of the books destined to be passed under the auctioneer's hammer. Aside from some laudatory statements in the preface of a general character, there is not a word to arouse the ardor of the bookbuyer in the whole 450 pages. An abbreviated title and the date and place of publication are mostly compassed within the space of a line of octavo text. It is catalogue-making simplified to the last degree. In these days our catalogue-makers go to the other extreme with glowing descriptions and facsimiles galore. Times change and we change with them.

William Cooper's method of disposing of literary property was promptly imitated by Edward Millington and other booksellers in London and Oxford, Durham, Norwich and other cathedral cities. It at once became "epidemic," says John Evelyn in his diary, with persons wishing to sell their libraries and approximately 100 auction sales of books had been held in England prior to the sale in 1698 of the library of Dr. Francis Bernard, Fellow of the College of Physicians and physician to St. Bartholomew's Hospital. This was one of the most extensive and perhaps the most interesting of the private libraries sold at auction in the seventeenth century, writes Mr. Lawler, who does not question the following assertion in the preface of the catalogue: "So there never yet appeared in England so choice and valuable a catalogue to be thus dispos'd of as this before us, more especially of that sort of books which are out of the common course which a man may make the business of his life to collect and at last may not be able to accomplish."

Dr. Bernard's library contained about 50,000 volumes, largely works on philology and medicine, "not an entire collection, however, of the latter, for who"—as the writer of the preface asks—"could or rather would have one in 'physick.'" Even, we may add, when, as in this case, Burton's "Anatomy of Melancholy," London, 1660, is included in the "Libri Medici."

Mr. Lawler's copy of the Bernard catalogue fortunately is priced by a contemporary hand, so that he is able to furnish a list of the very low prices realized. The twenty-two Caxtons in the sale (three of them imperfect) brought altogether £4 17s. To name a few of these English incunabula—"Jason and the Golden Fleece," n. d., brought 3s. and 6d.; "The Book of Chess Moralized," n. d., 1s. and 6d.; "History of Troy," 1500, 3s.; Higden's "Polycricon," n. d., 4s.; "The Golden Legend," n. d., 8s.; "Bartholomæus de Proprietate Rerum" in English, £1 2d. Contrast these prices with the record-breaking ones in four and five figures obtained at the Robert Hoe sale last winter, and with the further fact that a single leaf from the least of these productions of the earliest English printer would now bring more pounds sterling than the entire book commanded in this seventeenth century auction sale.

In addition to the Caxtons, the library contained some 2500 English books and pamphlets printed before the year 1700, among them a number now exceedingly rare and highly valued, and also a sprinkling of books and pamphlets relating to America. Typical of the paltry prices paid for this Americana; we quote the following titles: "Smith's History of New England, Virginia, etc.," 1624, 4s. and 2d.; "Hakluyt's Voyages," 2 vols. 1598, 19s.; Morton's "History of New England," 1615, 8d. Nine of the rarest books relating to New England, including Lechford's "News from New England" and Wood's "New England Prospect" in one bundle sold for 5s. and 2d.

The highest price obtained for a single book in the entire sale was £10 for a Bishop Brian Walton's "Polyglot Bible." The lowest, 4d., the least Mr. Lawler judges at which a bidding might be started. It goes without saying that most of the books on law, medicine and theology (especially the medicinal books) would at the present time bring no more than the price of paper stock. Solomon of old declared that of making many books there is no end, and of all but a very small part of them it may be asked,

"If I was so soon to be done for,
I wonder what I was begun for."

With books as with all things in this world, animate or inanimate, it is a question of the survival of the fittest. The books that in recent sales have brought great prices and astonished not only the general public but also the experienced book-collector, have stood the test of time, and it is a reasonable assumption that their shadows will never grow less but greater as the ages come and go.

The sale, held at Dr. Bernard's late dwelling-house in Little Britain, realized about £5000, the equivalent at the present day, it is estimated, of £15,000, an average of $1.50 each for the 50,000 books collected by this seventeenth century disciple of Richard de Bury, whose love of books and learning neither illness nor old age could quench. We have no criticism to make of the doctor as a bibliophile except the inference we are constrained to draw, that he was not over particular as to the condition of his books, for we are told that "he was not solicitous about their dress, 'twas sufficient that he had the book."

The catalogue, an octavo of 450 pages, is arranged under subject headings called by the compiler "Faculties." Folios in the van, followed by quartos, octavos, on down to duodecimos. A classification still followed by the French in contradistinction to the alphabetical arrangement generally adopted by English and American catalogue-makers.

It was no padded sale—this book auction of Dr. Bernard—such as occurs not infrequently in these days, for the preface to the catalogue explicitly states that not one book is added of which the doctor was not possessed at the time of his death. In conclusion the writer of the preface offers to his prospective buyers this excuse for any errors or imperfections the catalogue may contain:

"It may be here expected that some apology should be made for the errors and imperfections in the catalogue, but the reasons that occasioned them not being to be given without some violation of good nature or good manners; we must only in general beg the 'Learned and Judicious Readers' excuse, and by way of compensation assure him that all imaginable care shall be taken in the sale that nothing shall be offered him unbecoming a gentleman and a scholar."—WILLIAM LORING ANDREWS in the current Bookman.

NEW YORK LIBRARY ASSOCIATION MEETS.

THE twenty-first meeting of the New York Library Association was held from September 25 to 29, with headquarters at the Park Avenue Hotel, and brought to the city not only librarians from most of the cities and towns of the State, but also many honored guests from beyond the State lines, including Dr. Herbert Putnam, Librarian of Congress; H. G. Wadlin, Librarian of the Boston Public Library; Professor Andrew J. Keogh, of Yale University, and Walter D. Briggs, of Trinity College, Hartford.

The programme began with a reception at the Park Avenue Hotel on Monday evening, tendered by the New York Library Club. Seven general sessions were held during the convention, covering most of the subjects of interest to libraries. On Tuesday afternoon Baker & Taylor offered a reception at the Aldine Club, and the evening was devoted to a theatre party at the Hippodrome. Wednesday's session was devoted to a study of the New York Public Library. Dr. Billings, director, and E. H. Anderson, assistant director, explained the details of the systems of the great new library building. In the afternoon Dr. J. H. Finley, president of the College of the City of New York, received the librarians at his beautiful institution, and Professor Sam A. Baldwin gave an organ recital. Thursday morning's session was held at New York University, at University Heights, and the afternoon session at Columbia University, where, among others, addresses were given by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia; Mrs. H. L. Elmendorf, president of American Library Association, and R. R. Bowker, editor of the Library Journal. Friday was Brooklyn Day, with lunch at the Montauk Club, an auto ride given by the Long Island Library Club to "see the sights" among the various libraries, in Prospect Park and at Coney Island, where dinner was ready at Reisenweber's Casino. Saturday has no definite programme, but many of the visitors will visit New York libraries, and perhaps some will take a little side glance at the other little attractions of New York.

POSTAL MATTERS.

SECOND CLASS MAIL COMMISSION MEETS.

THE commission to inquire into the cost of handling second class mail matter held an executive session a week ago Friday in the Federal Building, New York City.

The commission is understood to have practically completed its work. No witnesses were called Friday.

PARCELS POST BILL.

A SUB-COMMITTEE of the Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads will hold a meeting about October 1 and take up the matter of parcels post, which has been referred to it for action. The committee will get together for the purpose of bringing in a workable bill.

OBITUARY NOTES.

J. FRANCIS RUGGLES, of Bronson, Mich., a well-known dealer in old books, died September 14, in the sixty-fourth year of his age. In the booktrade he made the name of the little town of Bronson very familiar. His quaint office stationery and business forms have been circulated far and wide among those having rare items to buy or sell. His scrupulous, prompt regard for every business obligation, among other virtues, will be kindly remembered by his numerous acquaintances throughout the trade.

AARON K. LORING, an old-time publisher, died at the Home for Aged Men, Boston, September 26, in his seventy-sixth year. Forty years ago his circulating library, located on Washington Street, Boston, near the Old South Church, was the rendezvous of many famous authors, among them Longfellow, Emerson, Lowell and Motley. It was the first one attempted in America, and for a number of years was very successful. He also published a number of popular books, including all the earliest writings of Mrs. A. D. T. Whitney, Horatio Alger and George Macdonald. The popularity of Alger's "Ragged Dick," "Tattered Tom" and "Luck and Pluck" series was phenomenal and made money for him for many years. In 1881 he retired from business and his list was scattered among various publishers, the Alger books going to Porter & Coates. Having dropped out of the trade thirty years ago his name is practically unknown to the present generation, yet the veterans of the profession will recall the man, his numerous eccentricities and the success that made him famous in the book field back in the "seventies."

CHARLES BATELLI LOOMIS, the popular humorist, author and lecturer, died in the Hartford Hospital, Hartford, Conn., September 23, of cancer of the stomach. Mr. Loomis had been suffering since last December and had undergone several painful operations. On September 16 Mr. Loomis held quite a reunion of his friends at the hospital in celebration of his fiftieth birthday, and was his own witty, delightful self. Mr. Loomis was born in Brooklyn in 1861, attended the Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute, entered a business house in 1879, and remained in business till 1891, after which he devoted himself to writing the lighter class of American humor, both prose and verse, by which he gained a prominent and undisputed place among the authors. All the best magazines welcomed his work, and much of it has reached the public through Harper's Magazine, The Century, The Atlantic, The Out- look, as well as through Life, Puck, Judge and other distinctively humorous periodicals. Much of Mr. Loomis's work has also appeared in book form, and among his well-known titles are: "Just Rhymes," a book of verses; "The Four Masted Catboat," "Yankee Enchantments," "A Partnership in Magic," "Cheerful Americans," "More Cheerful Americans," "I've Been Thinking," "Minerva's Manœuvres," "Cheer Up," "A Bath in an English Tub," "Poe's Raven in an Elevator," "The Knack of It," "A Holiday Touch," "Just Irish" and "Little Maude." For many years Mr. Loomis was a warmly-welcomed guest, and he will be much missed this winter at gatherings to which he always so generously contributed fun and good cheer.

PERSONAL NOTES.

ON his autumn trip Samuel Glick will represent G. W. Dillingham with a full line of samples through the western States.

FRANK M. BUCKLES, who has a wide acquaintance among booksellers throughout the country, has just been appointed postmaster of Rutherford, N. J., his home town.

DR. SAMUEL E. DAWSON, for many years senior partner of Dawson Brothers, booksellers and publishers in Montreal, is the dean of the guild on this continent. In 1891 he was appointed Queen's Printer at Ottawa, a post which he resigned in 1907 on the score of impaired health. Dr. Dawson is an author of distinction. In 1882 he wrote a study of Tennyson's "Princess," which elicited from the laureate an interesting recital of how the suggestions of seashore and sky were developed in his verse. This letter, unique in the poet's correspondence, appears in his life, and in a later edition of Dr. Dawson's brochure. His "Canada and Newfoundland," issued in 1896, has special interest today, when it seems probable that the island colony will link itself to the Dominion. Keeping to geography, Dr. Dawson has written "The Voyages of the Cabots" and "The St. Lawrence Basin and Its Borderlands," which have taken their place in the standard literature of exploration. Dr. Dawson now resides in Westmount, a beautiful suburb of Montreal, where he delights his friends with reminiscences dating from 1847, when he entered the service of his father, Benjamin Dawson, who sold books in Notre Dame Street, near Place d'Armes. In former times American authors were able to secure British copyrights by a brief sojourn in Canada, preferably in Montreal. Their interests were usually placed in the hands of Dr. Dawson, in whose office in St. James Street Dr. O. W. Holmes, Francis Parkman, Mark Twain and many another author of renown, have made themselves at home during repeated visits to the Canadian metropolis.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

JOYCE KILMER, author of "Summer of Love," a book of poems which the Baker &

Taylor Company are publishing, is a lexicographer and a socialist. His poems, however, are neither recondite nor political, but are almost purely lyrical expressions of sentiment.

PROFESSOR RODOLFO LANCIANI, the author of "Wanderings in the Roman Campagna" and other popular books on Roman history and archæology, has been raised to the Senatorship of Italy in recognition of his services in the field of archæological investigation. King Humbert personally notified Professor Lanciani of this new honor and offered his congratulations.

MISS MARY JOHNSTON, author of "The Long Roll," arrived in New York last week on the "Cincinnati," after spending the summer travelling in Europe. She has returned to Richmond, where she will continue work on her new book, the title of which is to be "Cease Firing." This is to complete the story of the Civil War, which she left with the death of Stonewall Jackson in "The Long Roll."

ROBERT HICHENS, the English novelist, arrived in New York September 23. Mr. Hichens is here to attend rehearsals of his dramatization of "The Garden of Allah," which is to be presented soon at the new Century Theatre, New York City. "I shall spend most of my time here in New York attending rehearsals and working, perhaps, a little at a novel that I am writing," said Mr. Hichens. "Strange to say, this is the first time I have been in America, though my new novel has several of its scenes laid in New York."

THAT was a curious story of Gabriele d'Annunzio, the Italian poet and novelist, which Frank Harris told in the Academy the other week. At a reception one evening d'Annunzio dropped his handkerchief by chance, and a young lady picked it up and handed it to him with a pretty smile. D'Annunzio, a great lady's man as well as a great author, bowed, and seeing she was pretty, replied: "Keep it mademoiselle; you may keep it." Thereupon the girl's smile vanished, and holding the handkerchief gravely between finger and thumb, she walked to the fire and dropped it onto the embers. Everybody smiled except d'Annunzio.

ANDREW LANG, who writes a charming causerie every week in the Illustrated London News, has a personal complaint to make. "I reckon it a grievance," he says, "that private epistles by men of letters should be publicly advertised for sale. One of mine, at five and sixpence, contains in the bookseller's catalogue this passage: 'That the lady should drag off your bedclothes was to be expected, but why should she assault the slavey?' The lady, I know from the context, was a ghost, concerning whom the percipient had consulted me, but that would not be guessed by every reader." Clearly it would not, and this extract from a letter might give people who did not know Mr. Lang a very unusual idea about him. The bookseller who has the letter and is willing to sell it for five and sixpence should certainly explain that the obstreperous lady was a ghost. The grievance which Mr. Lang takes lightly enough is, however, a serious one, and his case is merely one of many.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

PROFESSOR LANE COOPER is issuing through Smith & Elder a concordance to the poems of Wordsworth.

"SCIENTIFIC FEATURES OF MODERN MEDICINE," by Professor Frederic S. Lee, is announced by the Columbia University Press.

A COMPLETE edition of the works of Björnson and a new biography of him will be published in the autumn by S. Fischer in Berlin.

A SECOND volume of "Ibsen's Plays," including "Warriors of Helgoland," "Ghosts," and "An Enemy of the People," will be added to Everyman's Library; the plays are translated by R. Farquharson Sharp.

COPIES of "Little Gardens for Boys and Girls," by Myrta M. Higgins (Houghton Mifflin Co.), were given as prizes last week to the school children of Norfolk, Conn., who had the best gardens this summer.

THE following books by the late General H. E. Trenain, "Last Days of Sheridan's Cavalry," "Two Days' War," "Sectionalism Unmasked," will from now on be supplied to the trade by the Madison Avenue Bookstore (Charles E. Bonnell, manager), 587 Madison Avenue, New York.

ORDERS for back numbers of The Arena, formerly published by Albert Brandt, of Trenton, can be supplied by William H. Plunkett, of Trenton, who purchased the entire stock of them at the trustee's sale. The stock now covers from volume 1 to the last copy published—August, 1909.

"A SHIP OF SOLACE" is the title of a new story by Elenor Mordaunt, author of "The Garden of Contentment," just published by Sturgis & Walton Co. It is the record of what happened to two young ladies on a sailing-ship voyage from Glasgow to Melbourne, full of humor and poetry.

J. CUMING WALTERS is publishing with Chapman & Hall, the English publishers, "Phases of Dickens: the Man, his Message, and his Mission." The same firm are bringing out Dickens's novels with all the original illustrations in color; and "Charles Dickens in America," by W. Glyde Wilkins.

AMONG the awards to the recent English Festival of Empire Exhibitors are the following in the book trade: Grand prix, Sampson Low, Marston & Co., Ltd.; gold medals, Dean's Rag Dolls and Books, Hodder & Stoughton, T. C. & E. C. Jack; silver medal, Frederick Warne & Co., T. Werner Laune.

A HUMAN document of much interest is "Through the Mill: the Life of a Mill-boy," by Al Priddy, just published by the Pilgrim Press. It possesses in large measure the manner and attraction of fiction but it is absolutely true being an autobiography, intensely human, rich in humor and honest in pathos.

GEORGE ALLEN & COMPANY, Ltd., the English publishers, will shortly issue a small volume by J. W. Petavel entitled "The Coming Triumph of Christian Civilization." It deals with social reform from a broad, unsectarian Christian point of view, and is strictly non-political. It will not especially appeal to the Socialist.

A TIMELY and interesting book which should appeal to every hostess is "Easy Entertaining," by Caroline French Benton, just issued by Dana Estes & Co. It is divided into four sections: Spring, Summer, Autumn and Winter. Each section contains several chapters brimming over with information and most helpful suggestions.

SCRANTON, WETMORE & Co., of Rochester, extend a cordial invitation to their friends in the trade who are to be in attendance at the Buffalo stationers' convention two weeks hence to drop off at Rochester and favor them with a call. They will receive a hearty welcome and incidentally see one of the best book stores in one of the finest cities in the land.

A VERSE drama by Alfred Noyes has just come from Frederick A. Stokes Company. This is "Sherwood; or, Robin Hood and the Three Kings." It is the splendid story of Robin Hood and Maid Marian, with Oberon, Titania, Puck and other dwellers in the Land of Fay playing their parts in the drama's unfolding. Spencer Baird Nichols has made the pictures in color which illustrate the volume.

WE have just received from Funk & Wagnalls Company "Reason and Sentiment," by Dr. Paul Dubois, who delivered the paper in the Aula of the University of Berne last year. It deals with the relative value of reason and sentiment in determining the moral side of the springs of our daily actions. "Mary Stuart," by Una Birch, an addition to the Hour-glass Series, a biographical essay, is also ready.

GEORGE W. JACOBS & COMPANY are the publishers of "Jinks' Inside," by Harriet Malone Hobson, an entertaining story of a gutter child who has what he calls an "inside" which compels him to do or not to do certain things; and "Historic Inventions," by Rupert S. Holland, an interesting account for young people of all the great inventions which have helped the advancement of man from Gutenberg's printing press to the Wrights' airships.

DURING the summer two parts, 16 and 17, of Professor Morris Jastrow's "Die Religion Babyloniens und Assyriens," his own translation and enlargement of his "Religion of Babylonia and Assyria," have appeared. The publisher (Alfred Töpelmann, Giessen) announces the completion of the work, three parts more, within the year. These two parts complete a very important chapter on astrological and meteorological divination, which is largely new.

THE new and revised edition of the Century Dictionary, Cyclopedia and Atlas, which the Century Company will issue in the autumn, will appear in 12 volumes, instead of 10 as before. The paper used for the work is the result of much experimenting. India paper for a dictionary, the leaves of which must be turned over very rapidly, is out of the question, but there has been produced for this edition a thin, opaque paper which prints cuts well and is strong and durable.

THE NORMAN W. HENLEY PUB. Co. ask us to note that their list of scientific and practical publications is constantly growing, are never allowed to be temporarily out of print, and all orders are therefore promptly filled. The Canadian agency for Henley's line is handled by McClelland & Goodchild, 42 Adelaide Street, West, Toronto, and the Australian agency is in the hands of the well-known house of George Robertson & Co., Melbourne, with their several branch houses throughout Australia.

"STUDIES IN GERMAN WORDS AND THEIR USES" is a practical book designed to assist rather advanced students in a methodical study of the force and use of the German particles, modal auxiliaries, prefixes, prepositions, and some of the more common stem groups. It contains abundant examples and a complete index. The author is Florence E. Hastings, instructor in German in Wellesley College, and the book is about to be put on the market by the publishers, D. C. Heath & Company, Boston.

WITHIN the last few weeks Cedric Chivers, the binder, has been awarded the grand prix in London and also at the Turin exhibition. Among the awards previously made to Mr. Chivers are the following: Gold medal, St. Louis, 1904; diplomé d'honneur, Liege, 1905; grand prix, Milan, 1906, and grand prix, London, 1908. A special feature in the exhibitions both in London and Turin was Mr. Chivers' analyses of modern papers and leathers and their proper treatment for effective library binding.

MESSRS. CONSTABLE, the English publishers, announce an interesting series, The Governing Families of Great Britain. The first volumes will be "The Seymour Family," by A. Audrey Locke, and "The Cavendish Family," by Francis L. Bickley. The same firm are starting another historical series, The Kings and Queens of England, beginning with "The Life of Henry II.," by L. F. Salzmänn, and "The Life of Henry VII.," by D. M. Gladys Bradford. Biographies of six further monarchs are in preparation.

H. M. CALDWELL COMPANY have a most attractive list of juveniles for the holiday trade. Among them are "Tom Stapleton, the Boy Scout," by Captain F. S. Brereton; "The Queen of the City of Mirth," by Elbridge H. Sabin, with pictures in color by Elenore Plaisted Abbott and Helen Alden Knipe; a handsome edition of George MacDonald's

"At the Back of the North Wind," illustrated in color and black and white; and "Caldwell's Boys and Girls at Home," stories and verses with many pictures in color and black and white for little people about seven.

FROM D. Appleton & Company we have received "The Forbidden Way," by George Gibbs, author of "The Bolted Door," a story of New York wealth and western mining methods, with a big, vivid hero and a charming heroine who marry, then for a time think they regret their union, only to find in the end that their only happiness lies in a life together; and three books for juvenile readers: "The Girls of Dudley School," by Ellen Douglas Deland; "A Captain at Fifteen," by Gilbert Payson Coleman; and "A Columbus of Space," by Garrett P. Serviss.

HARPER & BROTHERS have among their most recent publications the following interesting books: "A Living Without a Boss," an anonymous work giving the life story of a salaried man who fought his way out of the city to freedom in the country; "Victor Ollene's Discipline," by Hamlin Garland, the arresting story of a young man, his sweetheart and his mother, who is a medium; "Padre Ignacio," by Owen Wister, a little story of a French monk in California in the fifties; and "The Last Lap," by Alden Arthur Knipe, a story of athletics in a boys' school.

MAJOR STEVENSON-HAMILTON, warden of the Transvaal game reserves, has written an elaborate story of "Animal Life in South Africa," which will be published by Mr. Heinemann, the English publisher, in the autumn, with maps and many illustrations. The author planned President Roosevelt's trip, and assisted him in his African journey, and the latter contributes a preface to the volume. The approaching Durbar will give an added interest to Lovat Fraser's forthcoming volume on "India under Curzon and After," which the same publisher will issue early this autumn.

HENRY RUSSELL MILLER, author of "The Man Higher Up," has written a new story which The Bobbs-Merrill Company will publish in October. "His Rise to Power" is the title of the forthcoming tale, which is concerned with a young American of good fighting blood and hard fixed ideals, who sets out to smash the political machine of his State. The great moment of his life comes when he must sacrifice his clean hands or ruin the father of the girl he loves. Though already more than six months old, "The Prodigal Judge" is still high on the best-selling list—and bids fair to remain there for a half year to come.

AMONG the Cassell & Company, Ltd., London, publications for September are the following: Everybody's Books, a new selection of books that have, for their intrinsic value, come to be regarded as classics; ten volumes will appear at once, and are listed at the small price of one shilling net; "The Chief Elizabethan Dramatists," edited by William Allan Neilson; "The Life of Tolstoy," by Paul Birnkoff, a friend of the famous Russian, who submitted much of the work to Tolstoy for correction and criticism; and two novels, "Cynthia Charrington," by Mrs. G. de Horne Vaizey, and "The Double Four," by Phillips Oppenheim.

THE Putnams will publish shortly "The Leaves of the Tree," by Arthur Christopher Benson. It contains biographical sketches and appreciations of certain distinguished men, each of whom, through his life, his character, his works, and above all through personal contact, exercised a constructive influence upon the essayist. In their Heroes of the Nations Series they will issue a new volume, "Blücher and the Uprising of Russia Against Napoleon," by Ernest F. Henderson. Late in September will appear "The Origin of Life," by Henry Charlton Bastian, presenting the results of his successful experiments to create out of the inanimate living organisms of the lower order.

AN important contribution to the literature of aviation is "The Story of the Aeroplane," by Claude Grahame-White, just published by Small, Maynard & Company. Mr. Grahame-White, the winner of the Gordon Bennett Cup, 1910—the "blue-ribbon" trophy of the air—has had wide personal experience as an air pilot, as well as success in making his own improvements in aeroplane construction, so that he is uniquely fitted to write an enthusiastic and at the same time careful and painstakingly complete account of the science and practice of aviation. He has written this book especially at the publisher's suggestion, and has addressed himself particularly to American readers.

LITTLE, BROWN & COMPANY have ready "The Lotus Lantern," by Mary Imlay Taylor and Martin Sabine, a story with the scene laid in Japan, where Lieut. John Hallard falls in love with Ume-San, and their romance is attended by heart-aches that come perilously near tragedy before the satisfactory ending is reached. The same firm announces that the advance orders of E. Phillips Oppenheim's new novel, "Havoc," to be published October 7, are larger than for any previous book by this popular author. They will publish in 1912 the only new novel written by Jeffery Farnol since the publication of "The Broad Highway," after it has appeared serially in McClure's Magazine. It will be called "The Amateur Gentleman."

ON September 15 the Columbia University Press published "The Rise of the Novel of Manners," by Charlotte E. Morgan, Ph.D., and "The Political Prophecy in England," by Rupert Taylor, Ph.D., which will form part of the Columbia University Studies in English. Other numbers of this series now in press are: "The Soliloquies of Shakespeare," by Morris LeRoy Arnold; "New Poems of King James I. of England," by Allan F. Westcott; "The Middle English Penitential Lyric," by Frank A. Patterson; "Mathew Carey, Editor, Author and Publisher," by Earl L. Bradsheer; "The Exemplum in the Early Religious and Didactic Literature of England," by Joseph A. Mosher; and "Thomas Dekker," by Mary Le-land Hunt.

THE truth is that "great" can only be applied to the novels of one writer to-day—and he is no longer writing, says the London Saturday Review. Clever novelists there are in something like plenty to-day. Mr. Galsworthy's cleverness is never for a moment in question, nor Mr. Wells's nor Arnold Bennett's, and there are others of both sexes who come within the same list. These writers are full of the new ideas about society and politics and marriage, and they handle their themes with distinction and sometimes with power. But it ends at that. It would be quite as reasonable and true to say that there are "great" poets writing in England to-day as that there are "great" novelists. The great novelist, the great poet and the great actor is not in England to-day.

"THE TUDOR SHAKESPEARE," under the general editorship of Professors W. A. Neilson and A. H. Thorndike, in forty volumes, illustrated, is an important announcement made by Macmillan. The first volume in the series has already been issued, prepared by the general editors. Among those to appear are: "Macbeth," by Arthur C. L. Brown; Henry IV., Part I., by F. W. Chandler; "Henry V.," by Lewis F. Mott; "The Merchant of Venice," by Harry M. Ayres; "Troilus and Cressida," by J. S. P. Tatlock; "Two Gentlemen of Verona," by Martin W. Sampson; "As You Like It," by Martha H. Shackford; "Coriolanus," by Stuart P. Sherman; "Henry VI., Part I.," by Louise Pound; "Richard II.," by Hardin Craig; "Antony and Cleopatra," by George Wyllys Benedict.

LONGMANS, GREEN & COMPANY announce the following books for fall publication: "The Life of Spencer Compton, Eighth Duke of Devonshire," by Bernard Holland, who was at one time upon the secretarial staff of the late Duke, and has prepared this book at the present Duke's request; "The Position of Women in Indian Life," by her Highness the Maharani of Baroda, and S. M. Mitra: the Gaikwar of Baroda, the husband of the author, is the foremost Indian Prince to try Western Institutions in his State, and her Highness, having paid seven long visits to the West, including two to America, is well qualified to give Indian women her impressions of women's organizations in the West; and a new book by the late Professor William James, "Memories and Studies," containing fifteen essays and addresses.

JOHN LANE COMPANY published September 20 "Stalks in the Himalaya: Jottings of a Sportsman-Naturalist," by E. P. Stebbing, F.R.G.S. Mr. Stebbing achieved a great success with "Jungle By-ways in India," and, as in his previous volume, a special feature of the new one is the illustrations, upwards of one hundred in number, most of which were drawn among the Himalayas themselves. "The Inn of Dreams," a volume of poems by Lady Alfred Douglas (Olive Constance); and "Picture Titles for Painters and Photographers," chosen from literature of Great Britain and America by A. L. Baldry. Their fiction for this week was "The Mating of Anthea," by Arabella Kennealy; "The Lifted Latch," by George Vane; and "The Dempsey Diamonds," by Allen Arnot.

THE following books have just come from A. C. McClurg & Company: "As the Sparks Fly Upward," by Cyrus Townsend Brady, who tells a tale of a modern Adam and Eve in a South Pacific Island paradise; "The Fusing Force: an Idaho Idyl," by Katharine Hopkins Chapman, a simple story of the Far West with a charming Southern girl for a heroine; J. Breckenridge Ellis's "Something Else," a story of life in New York; "The Texican," by Dane Coolidge, a narrative of cattle rustling and adventure in Arizona; another Western story, "The Peace of the Solomon Valley," by Margaret Hill McCarter, a short story told in the form of letters, bound in holiday style; and "From the Heights," by John Wesley Carter, a paper teaching the beauty of living on the spiritual heights, made up into an attractive little booklet.

THE following books will be published by Houghton Mifflin Company on Saturday, September 30: "The Life of Bret Harte," by Henry C. Merwin; "Kittens and Cats," a book for children, by Eulalie Osgood Grover, author of "Sunbonnet Babies"; "The Autobiography of an Elderly Woman," by an anonymous writer; "Touring in 1600," by E. S. Bates; "The Champion of the Regiment," a Revolutionary story for young people, by Everett T. Tomlinson; "Broken Words," a fifth book of charades, by William Bellamy; a new edition of "American Political Ideas," by John Fiske, with an additional chapter and an introduction by John Spencer Clark; "The Navigable Rhine," by Edwin J. Clapp, with a comparison of transportation conditions on the Mississippi; "The Rhetorical Principles of Narration," by Prof. Carroll Lewis Maxcy; and "Milton's Education, Areopagitica, etc.," in the Riverside Literature Series.

HENRY HOLT & COMPANY will publish on September 16 "Historical Research," by J. M. Vincent, a book written primarily for students of history, but one that will be enjoyed by the general reader, its account of the historian's method of working is so interestingly set forth; an elementary treatise on "Thermodynamics," by Professor G. A. Goodenough, of the University of Illinois, a book intended for engineers and based on the latest researches, is also to appear to-day, as will "Early English Poems," selected by Henry S. Pancoast and John Duncan Spaeth. This firm announces that they have in press an edition of "La Coja el Encogido," a light and graceful comedy by Hartz-enbresch, edited for first year reading of Professor J. Geddes, of Boston University; the Spanish title may be translated as "The Lame Maiden and the Bashful Swain." Already four editions have been necessary to meet the demand for Bergson's "Creative Evolution"; the demand has been so great that Henry Holt & Company, the publishers, have been unable to keep the book in stock for three consecutive days.

DUFFIELD & COMPANY announce for publication early in October "The Children of the Night," by Oudene A. Delou, a remarkable work of humor and pathos; two attractive little gift books, "What of the Happy New Year?" and "What of the Merry Christmas?" by Mrs. Jane Ellis Joy; "Songs and Poems," by William Sharp, the first volume in a new edition of the works signed by William Sharp under his own name, and uniform with the recently completed edition of the works written by Sharp as Fiona Macleod; and "Stories from the New Testament for Children," by Elsa Barker, with illustrations by Herbert Moore. Among their other new books are "Picture Plays," by Marguerite Merington, an illustrated volume uniform with "Holiday Plays," a book of half a dozen short one-act dramas suitable for reading or for juvenile theatricals; "Sewing for Little Girls," by Olive Hyde Foster," a companion volume to the author's "Cookery for Little Girls;" and a new library edition of George Bird Grinnell's "Indians of Today," of which the text has been thoroughly revised and brought down to date and all the original illustrations retained.

L. C. PAGE & COMPANY's fall list includes a number of attractive titles for young readers, some by well known writers and some by new writers of promise. There's a new book by Marion Ames Taggart, "Nancy, the Doctor's Little Partner," continuing the adventures of her charming little heroine, Nancy Porter, the doctor's little girl; and Edith A. Sawyer contributes a sequel to her successful "The Christmas Makers' Club" under the title of "Elsa's Gift Home." John V. Lane, author of "Marching with Morgan," has written another boy's story of the Revolutionary period, "Rodney, the Ranger." A unique little volume is Norman H. Pitman's "Chinese Playmates," attractively illustrated from pen and ink drawings done by Sen Fah Shang; and a pretty little story is Una Macdonald's "Alys-All-Alone." There are also two new titles in the famous Little Cousin Series, "José, Our Little Portuguese Cousin," by Edith A. Sawyer, and "Gerard, Our Little Belgian Cousin," by Blanche McManus; and a new volume in the delightful Cosy Corner Series, "Joe, the Circus Boy," by Alice E. Allen. Charles H. L. Johnston's new book for his Famous Leader Series deals with "Famous Privateersmen and Adventurers of the Sea," and will be published during October.

THIS is the season of the year when many booksellers, if we may paraphrase slightly an editorial note in Geyer's Stationer, with irritable temperaments imagine that they are "bothered to death" with travelling men. Every salesman knows this type and being accustomed, as they are, to all classes of merchants, good, bad and indifferent, they usually know how to "handle" the grouch. In most cases, he is an easy mark for the clever drummer. The salesman doesn't need to be saved from him; the choleric merchant is sadly in need of being saved from himself. The fact that representatives from all parts of the globe will bring to the door of even the country retailer samples and information covering the entire range of the products of human industry is one of the real wonders of the present day. If every travelling man was called in from the road 50 per cent. of the retail establishments in the United States would crumble with the dry rot in a few years. It is the road salesman's militant force that keeps the average distributor up to date in spite of himself, and it is significant that the most successful concerns—the ones who are always a little ahead of their competitors—always give a hearty reception to the knight of the road. He is the vital link between the manufacturer and consumer; and it is the consumer and manufacturer who make the business of the retailer possible. Welcome the salesman and listen to what he has to say. For every one that "sticks" you there are twenty that will render you a real service.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & COMPANY have a long list of titles for autumn publication. It includes in fiction: "Sixes and Sevens," a posthumous volume of O. Henry's stories; "The Boss of Wind River," by A. M. Chisholm; "Adventures of Bobby Orde," by Stewart Edward White; "Abe & Mawruss," by Montague Glass; "The Taming of John Blunt," by Alfred Ollivant; "An Enemy to Society," by George Bronson Howard; "The Transformation of Krag," by Eugene P. Lyle, Jr.; "The Case of Richard Meynell," by Mrs. Humphry Ward; "Margery," by E. F. Benson; "Cicely," by Sara Beaumont Kennedy; "Further Adventures of Nils," by Selma Lagerlof; "The Adventures of a Suburbanite," by Ellis Parker Butler; "A Venture in Identity," by Lucile C. Houghton; a booklet containing "The Gift of the Wise Men," O. Henry's Christmas story; "Joey the Dreamer," by Henry Oyen; "Strawberry Acres," by Grace S. Richmond; "The Composer," by A. and E. Castle, and "The Boy Who Brought Christmas," by Alice Morgan. In biography and history their list includes: "The Life and Letters of Moses Coit Tyler"; "The Life of Andrew Jackson," by John Spencer Bassett; "Reminiscences of Basil W. Duke"; and "The History of England," by Kipling and Fletcher. Miscellaneous: "The Passing of the Idle Rich," by Frederick Townsend Martin; "The Call of the Carpenter," by Bouck White; "We and Our Children," by Woods Hutchinson; "My Larger Education," by Booker T. Washington; "The Richer Life," by Walter A. Dyer; "The Forester's Manual," and "Manual of Signs and Sign Language," by Ernest Thompson Seton; "Wild Animals Every Child Should Know," by Julia E. Rogers; "Shakespeare a Child Can Read and Act," by Ben Greet; "The Magic of Dress," by Grace Margaret Gould, and "Many Celebrities and a Few Others," by William H. Rideing.

ON September 29 Dodd, Mead & Company will publish a number of important books.

Anna Katharine Green's new detective story, "Initials Only," follows along the line of her earlier books, such as "The Leavenworth Case," "The Filigree Ball," "The House of the Whispering Pines," etc. There is a spirited Western story, a first novel by Guy Steely. As press agent for Ringling Brothers' circus, Mr. Steely has been observing life at first hand for a number of years, and he has now put some of the results of his observations into an excellent book. "Wally," however, is not a circus story. Still another novel is "Their Heart's Desire," by Frances Foster Perry, a very sweet and touching story. Miss Annie S. Peck, who holds the distinction of having climbed one of the highest mountains in the Western hemisphere when she reached an altitude which has been surpassed by only a very few mountain climbers, at any time, tells of her experiences in the Andes in her new book, "A Search for the Apex of America." An extremely well written book about Asia Minor is "Life in the Moslem East," by Pierre Ponafidine, the Russian imperial consul-general at Constantinople. A bold and striking plea for an American merchant marine is made by Patrick H. W. Ross, a well-known banker of the State of Washington. Mr. Ross shows why our merchant navy has almost passed from the sea, and why also it is very likely that before long American ships will be found in every port. Other books of interest are "Turner's Golden Visions," being reproductions of Turner's masterpieces, with a biography of the artist by C. Lewis Hind; "Moated Houses," a study of English moated houses, with many illustrations by W. O. Tristram; and a biography of the great Empress Dowager of China by Philip W. Sergeant, whose position for many years as editor of the Hong Kong Daily Press gives him unusual opportunities for forming an intelligent opinion of this remarkable woman.

THE Scribner publication list for October includes two brilliant studies in critical biography—"The Early Literary Career of Robert Browning," by Professor T. R. Lounsbury, of Yale, and "Franz Liszt," by James Huneker; Mrs. Burton Harrison's exceedingly well named reminiscences of the South before and during the war and of New York after it, "Recollections, Grave and Gay;" Ernest Thompson Seton's account, charming in text and picture, of his canoe journey into northwest British America, "The Arctic Prairies;" Professor Frank F. Abbott's vitalization of Roman character and life, "The Common People of Ancient Rome;" and an exceedingly valuable sociological study by the late Ray M. McConnell, Ph.D., "Criminal Responsibility and Social Restraint." They also announce "Golf for Girls," a little paper-bound volume in which Cecil Leitch, the English player, tells all her long and successful experience and her sharp observation have taught her of the game. Her language is clear, and the many full-page photographic illustrations make it still clearer. The book will be valuable to the most proficient woman player, but to the beginner invaluable. Other important additions to their list are "The Ideal of Jesus," by Dr. William Newton Clarke; "Football: the American Intercollegiate Game," by Parke H. Davis, member of the Intercollegiate Rules Committee; "English House Design," by Ernest Willmot, a recent importation dealing with the highest achievements in English domestic architecture from the sixteenth to the twentieth centuries; "Famous Castles and Palaces of Italy," by E. B. D'Auvergne, beautifully illustrated in color and half-tone and vividly written; three books for boys by Ralph D. Paine, "The Stroke Oar," "Sandy Sawyer, Sophomore," and "The Wrecking Master"; the four final volumes in the thirty-six volume centenary edition of Dickens' works; and another well illustrated imported book, "A History of Architecture in London," by Walter H. Godfrey, giving an account of architecture in England down to 1800.

GEORGE H. DORAN COMPANY have an unusually attractive list of books for fall publication. In fiction they announce "Corporal Cameron, a Tale of Northwest Mounted Police," by Ralph Conner, who has taken full advantage of the picturesque element his background offers; a strikingly original tale full of color, humor and tenderness is Rosamund Napier's "The Faithful Failure; a Study of Urban Nature;" "Letters to Patty: a Whisper from the Land of Memory," a series of letters, gay, brave and altogether delightful, recording how a child's soul awakens to the glory of the world; Marie Corelli's "The Life Everlasting: a Romance of Reality," a story of mortal and immortal passion in which the author returns to the inspiration of her first great fame, "The Romance of Two Worlds;" "The Fourth Watch: the Story of Parson John," by H. A. Cody, author of the very successful book, "The Frontiersman;" two new volumes are added to the new uniform edition of Arnold Bennett's works, "Whom God Hath Joined," an intense story of the divorce question, analyzing causes and exposing the inefficiency of laws governing separation and divorce; and "The Man from the North," the story of the author's coming to London. This firm announces the publication by them in this country of the novels of George A. Birmingham, already known and appreciated in Great Britain. The four books ready are: "The Search Party," a humorous and clever story of homely people; "The Simpkins Plot," a tale which is said to be a cross between Anthony Hope's "Dolly Dialogues" and Stevenson's "Wrong Box;" "Spanish Gold," filled with strikingly individual character drawing; and "Lalage's Lovers," the story of an Irish mix of a girl and her flirtations. In their art gift books they have a particularly handsome line of well illustrated and bound volumes. Among them are "David Copperfield," with twenty-five plates in color by Frank Reynold, R.I., which may be had bound either in cloth or in a special limited edition bound in crushed levant and containing proof prints; "Stories from Hans Andersen" is illustrated and bound in the same sumptuous manner. The Arundel Library of Great Masters is a series produced under the supervision of the Medici Society, a fact that in itself is a guarantee of the beauty and excellence of the volumes. Two works appear in this series, "Botticelli," by A. E. Oppe, and "Van Dyke," by Lionel Cust. In the reproductions, twenty-five in each volume, the delicate shades and half-tones of the originals have been fully preserved. Beautiful editions of "The School for Scandal," "The Idylls of the King," "The Compleat Angler" and other classics have also been prepared by this house.

BUSINESS NOTES.

PICK-UPS.

THE FIRST SIGN.

"Looks like an early winter this year."

"Are any of the Christmas magazines out?"
—Kansas City Journal.

"By the way, what's causing the delay in the arrival of the Christmas magazines?" asks the Birmingham News. They are probably too busy with their forthcoming July number.—Chattanooga Times.

A GOOD "AD." SPOILED.

"You are evidently very fond of books, sir," said an old gentleman to a younger man in a car. "May I ask you whom you consider the best novelist of the day?"

"Jenkins, undoubtedly," said the young man. "There's nobody can write like Jenkins. Why, sir, the circulating libraries can't supply his novels fast enough!"

At this moment another man entered the car and addressed the young man:

"Halloa, Jenkins!" he said. "How are you to-day?"—Evening Mail.

PLUTARCH.

MR. PLUTARCH was one of the best known writers of his day. He is said to have written more lives than Murat Halstead did, but this statement cannot be proved successfully.

Plutarch was the Elbert Hubbard of his time, however. He would ostensibly write the biography of some famous Grecian, but this he would contrast unfavorably with the life of one of his own countrymen. His little visits to the homes of great men were among the best sellers in his day and age.

When he was in his prime his country was flooded with book agents who worked by the Sheldon method of salesmanship. Plutarch kept a flock of geese to furnish quills for him.

To-day his "Lives" are fixtures in every library. One would as soon think of omitting the shelves as to omit "Plutarch's Lives" and Dante's "Inferno" or Milton's "Paradise Lost." The latter are nice books for a library; they look intellectual and they are the despair of elocutionists.

Plutarch could have found lots of material to-day. He would have been a good editor for the Congressional Directory.—Chicago Post.

BOOKS WANTED

Under this head booktrade subscribers, under their own names, are given five nonpareil lines (exclusive of address) free advertisement for books out of print in any issue except special numbers, but not exceeding 100 lines a year. If over five lines are sent the excess is at 10 cents a line. Books not out of print, repeated matter, and all advertisements from nonsubscribers cost 10 cents a line. Objectionable books are excluded so far as they are noted.

In answering, please state edition, condition and price, including postage or express charges. Houses that will deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis should put [Cash] after their firm name. The appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the WEEKLY, does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it endeavors to safeguard its columns by withdrawing their use from irresponsible advertisers, booksellers should take usual precautions in extending credit.

Write your wants plainly, on one side of the sheet only. Illegible "wants" are ignored. The WEEKLY is not responsible for errors. Parties with whom there is no account must pay in advance.

IMPORTANT
NOVELS

STOKES' AUT

THE SECRET GARDEN

By FRANCES HODGSON BURNETT

Has the tenderness and charm of "Little Lord Fauntleroy," imagination and power of "The Dawn of a Tomorrow," and the dramatic suspense of "The Shuttle."

The most beautiful and satisfying story ever written by the most beloved American story teller.

"If 'The Secret Garden' doesn't prove the most popular book of the season, then I will forever more forswear prophecy."

—WILLIAM E. SAGE in The Cleveland Leader.

"Told with a skill and charm which few living writers could equal. . . . Over all, young and old, the author manages to throw the spell of that imperishable garden of youth whose odors float to us across the years."—Chicago Record-Herald.

"Emphatically, this is a story that both young and older readers will enjoy immensely."—The Outlook.

In two styles—each cloth, 12mo, $1.35 net.

1. Picture cover and four illustrations in color by Maria L. Kirk, wrapper in colors.
2. Cover in light blue and gold, gilt top, no illustrations.

THE FRUITFUL VINE

By ROBERT HICHENS

Author of "The Garden of Allah."

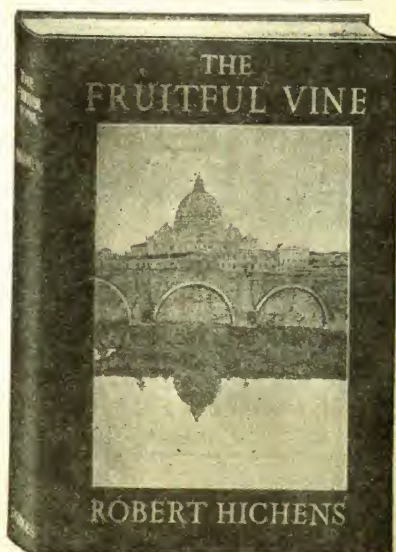

This important long novel by the man who has been called the greatest living writer of English has a double distinction:

Its setting: Modern Rome with her heroic memories and her fascinating society—the Italian nobility, the brilliant diplomats, and the rich and cultured of all nations.

Its theme: The unsatisfied longing for children on the part of a mutually devoted couple—a beautiful Englishwoman of the finest type and her distinguished husband. How this want forces them through strength, weakness, blindness, circumstance, good and evil to the dramatic climax, is told in a story that is profoundly moving.

By his interpretation of human longing and motive, by the glowing color of his description, and by his tremendous dramatic power, Mr. Hichens in turn fascinates, charms and almost stuns the reader.

*With frontispiece in colors by Jules Guérin, wrapper in colors.
Cloth, 12mo, $1.40 net.*

THE GARDEN of ALLAH—Biskra Edition

Hichens' great masterpiece of the desert is in steady demand, and will sell even better this year on account of its magnificent stage production. This is a dignified and beautiful edition.

IMPORTANT
NOVELS

PANDORA'S BOX

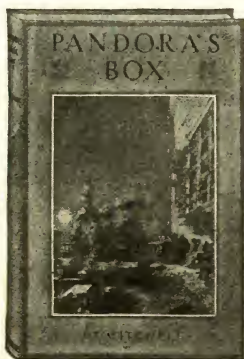

By JOHN A. MITCHELL

Editor of LIFE, author of "Amos Judd," "The Pines of Lory," etc.

A good, clean love-story, full of freshness, real humor and delicious satire, this novel is an oasis in a desert of fervid fiction. A book of enthraling interest, representing the best in American spirit.

The romance of an American Architect and the daughter of a line of earls stretching back to the Conqueror, it is a book of genuine feeling, of interesting plot, of keen wit with an audacity like that of "A Yankee in King Arthur's Court," and contains a psychic element that recalls the author's delightful "Amos Judd."

The author of "Amos Judd" and "The Pines of Lory" has surpassed himself in this new novel.

Cloth, 12mo, with four illustrations by the author, colored wrapper, $1.30 net.

Now Ready.

PRAIRIE
COURTSHIP

By HAROLD BINDLOSS

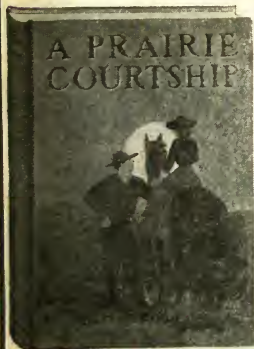

Author of "Alton of Somasco," "Winston of the Prairie," etc.

A virile, ringing story of the outdoors, about an unfettered wanderer in the Northwest, who, awakened by love for a girl, settled down to the heroic tasks of a pioneer and swung through to an unexpected victory.

Bindloss has been steadily growing in popularity because he never disappoints his readers. This book, like his others, contains the atmosphere of the open, a good love-story, and a man's keen struggle for success.

Now Ready.

Cloth, 12mo, picture wrapper in colors, $1.25 net.

THE
WITH THE LAMP

By RICHARD DEHAN

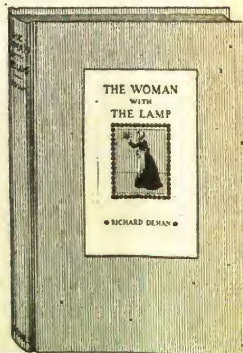

Author of "One Braver Thing" (The Dop Doctor).

Last year "One Braver Thing," published in England as "The Dop Doctor," made a big sensation for both sides of the Atlantic. This year the author's new novel is even bigger and fuller than the first. It centers about Florence Nightingale, the famous founder of nursing, who had remarkable experiences in the Crimean War. There are other strong figures in the story and a host of other characters, all worth knowing.

There is romance in the novel, there is humor, there is the excitement of war and great deeds. Throughout we feel the glow of noble action, the thrill of struggle and intrigue.

Cloth, 12mo, $1.35 net.

Ready in November.

BOOKS OF
GENERAL INTEREST

IN NORTHERN MISTS

A History of Arctic Exploration in Early Times

By FRIDTJOF NANSEN

Nansen, the dean of explorers, the great scientist, the master of style, tells the story of early exploration of the Northland—one of the most romantic in history, involving the voyages of Pytheas, the early Norse discoverers of Iceland, Greenland and "Vineland the Good," and the search for the Northwest and Northeast passages by Cabot and others which resulted in the discovery of North America.

In two volumes of about 400 pages each. With frontispieces in colors and many illustrations by the author. Cloth, 4to, $8.00 net. Ready in November.

INDUSTRIAL DEPRESSIONS

Iron, the Barometer of Trade

By GEORGE H. HULL

By a prominent business man, this important book analyzes the explanations of industrial depressions one by one, sets forth the underlying cause, tells how their approach may be recognized and what may be done to avoid them.

JAMES J. HILL, to whom the work was submitted in manuscript, wrote:

"Your analytic method is the only one that can disclose finally the cause of industrial depressions. You have applied it with skill to a vast mass of facts and sifted them patiently and logically. It seems to me that the conclusion you reach is fairly established. . . . The tables contained in the appendices are very valuable."

Cloth, 8vo, with diagrams, tables and appendices, $2.75 net. Ready in October.

ADVANCED AUCTION BRIDGE

By the Expert of the N. Y. Sun

To play a successful game of Auction, a thorough understanding of bidding is essential. DANA ESTES & COMPANY NEW PUBLICATIONS

A NATURE BOOK FOR CHILDREN OF ALL AGES

A BOOK OF NIMBLE BEASTS By DOUGLAS ENGLISH, F.R.P.S.

With over 200 illustrations and six full-page colored plates from photographs of living animals, taken by the author, comprising the most remarkable series of nature pictures ever published. 4to, cloth, boxed, $2.00 net

The inventive imagination with which the author weaves his stories around the characteristic habits of the animals, combined with the impressive simplicity of his style, gives the book a captivating and irresistible quality—a quality which will appeal to children of all ages.

It is safe to say that the photographs which illustrate this book form the most remarkable series of nature pictures ever offered to the public. We have in these illustrations a wonderful gallery of expressions and attitudes; a brilliant portrayal of animal activities, taken unawares. The Squirrel in his tree; the Rabbit at his toilet; the slinking Stoat; the nimble Natterjack; the Water Rat in the reeds; the elusive Bat; Sandwasps busily; Fire Toads playing and Shrew Mice fighting. These, and many others, all bristling with personality.

THE OLD TESTAMENT STORY: Told to the Young

By GLADYS DAVIDSON

Author of "Stories from the Operas." Fully illustrated in double tone from old masterpieces. 8vo, cloth, $2.00 net

The outstanding feature of this volume which catches and delights the eye at once is the manner in which it is illustrated. Instead of introducing the ordinary modern drawings, perhaps extremely correct as to technical detail, but too often lacking in dignity and imagination, Miss Davidson has gone to the Old Masters, or, rather, she has let Mr. F. Hanfstaengl choose her illustrations for her from the enormous number of which he has published such first-rate reproductions.

THE BEST HANDY DICTIONARY

The Concise Oxford Dictionary of Current English

Adapted by H. W. FOWLER and F. G. FOWLER, (Authors of "The King's English,") from The Oxford Dictionary. Large crown 8vo, pp. xii+1044, cloth, $1.00. Also on thin Bible paper, cloth, $2.00; Alaska seal, limp, round corners, gilt edges, $3.50.

"There is not another cheap dictionary that will bear comparison with this admirable adaptation of the "Oxford English Dictionary," nor do we hesitate to include among cheap dictionaries certain much advertised works, many times larger and a great deal more expensive . . . The authors have done the work of compression most admirably, in the space of 1044 pages they lay before us a review of the English language the like of which has not been attempted before. . . . Upon the whole the "Concise Oxford" may justly be described as a miracle of condensed scholarship and the most satisfactory and practical of its kind in the language."—N. Y. Evening Sun, August 5, 1911.

A modern, city-bred "Happy Hawkins," one Philip Lytton by name, takes to heart the taunts of his lady-love and devotes his ample fortune to engaging in business. Making a failure of it, he leaves New York on a quest for fortune and rehabilitation in his lady's eyes in the Far West. The keynote of the story is buoyancy and a man's

Here indeed is a man who is a mystery from the very beginning—in his wooing, in his marriage to the remarkable heroine of the story, the charming young American girl whom this interesting, distinguished Scotchman so captivates, in his married life—and who grows more and more remarkable and mystifying, even to his wife, as the romance goes on, until near the close of the

In her new book, which is by far her most important, Mrs. Keays takes as the main-spring of her story her favorite theme—marriage. She lays the scene in a modern university city and portrays the life there outspokenly and with an unsparing, but just, understanding. Many readers will

Many other writers have taken the French Revolution as their theme, but Miss Openshaw is one of the few who have made it vivid and human. "The Loser Pays" will be successful. It may be recommended to all who like a dashing, romantic story full of incident."—Glasgow Citizen. "A stir-

A Western story of a new variety. Wherever Jimmy Dukane appears something happens. He is sent out to Nevada by his fond father, ostensibly for work, but actually to be kept out of mischief. Things start to happen at once. Jimmy wakes up in the morning after his arrival and finds his clothes and money gone and a tramp's raiment in their place. He is indignant but no one knows him. What shall he do? The story of what he does—and incidentally how he meets a charming girl by the name of Enid—is one of the most delightful that have fallen to the lot of the novel-reader in many a day. Youth—exuberant, unconquerable, "incorrigible" Youth—is in, around and over it all. You will enjoy "The Incurrible Dukane."

Jones Abroad

The Great New Travel Story

By ROBERT C. GIVINS

"Practically everybody knows Jones, but few however were aware that Jones had gone abroad. Nevertheless he did, and the things he saw, and the things he did, and the things people did to Jones are chronicled in a lively story under the caption of Jones Abroad.

It is rather unique in travel literature, because it is as different from the usual tale of travel as the usual tale is different from a novel.

Jones sees things that other travelers miss. It is written with such a commingling of humor, laughter, pathos, human nature and national life as is seldom brought together. The author tells you the world's story as a man of few words, but numerous ideas and tremendous feeling and appreciation only could tell it. It is bound to be enjoyed."—TOM WINDER in Travel.

Jones, a noted wheat plunger, decides to drop all business and go abroad. He packs his steamer trunk, takes a letter of credit for $100,000 and bids good-bye to New York.

Before he lands on the other side he has gathered about him a group of five others, and together they improve every opportunity for sight-seeing and many are the jolly good times that fall to their lot in the out-of-the-way corners they visit.

Tabitha at Ivy Hall

By

RUTH ALBERTA BROWN

First Volume in The Ivy Hall Series

Tabitha is a girl of the wide-stretching western plains, whose one dear possession is a brother Tom. And how they both detest their name—Catt!

Their father is a cold and indifferent parent, and a fussy Aunt Maria takes the place of mother. Life is indeed stormy for Tabitha until boarding-school begins. She determines to be meek, and slow of temper and still slower of speech, but the first day proves how easily resolutions are broken—when one's name is Tabitha Catt.

However, in spite of name, temper and poverty, she makes delightful friends at school, who unite to rejoice with her in the great happiness that crowns her Freshman year.

The Auto Boys' Camp

By JAMES A. BRADEN

Fourth Volume in The Auto Boys Series

A long winter is spent in careful planning by the Auto Boys, a few brief summer days are devoted to laying in supplies, and then the four chums bowl out of their home city in their good old Thirty to establish a camp on a Michigan lake.

They are not the only ones traveling toward this secluded spot, however. A poorly clothed, half-fed lad of sixteen trudges along toward the same lake, stealthily followed by an unkempt, sour-visaged fellow. And a few days before the Auto Boys go into camp a carefully groomed man of the world took up quarters in the deserted clubhouse on the opposite shore.

With such a group, all brought to the lake by a common interest, the Auto Boys are swiftly and surely drawn into the net of a deep mystery, which their keen wits help to solve.

Announcement Extraordinary

At last a really new, strictly up-to-date, authentic encyclopedia in convenient size and at a popular price. The neat flexible India paper Bible has supplanted the old fashioned cumbersome family Bible—we have applied the same principle to an Encyclopedia. For years the subscription book houses have monopolized the Encyclopedia field simply because it was thought that an Encyclopedia to be complete and impressive must be a ponderous set of bulky volumes requiring a special book case—plenty of room and to be sold on installments at a fancy price.

The Practical American Encyclopedia is the result of ten years of painstaking effort, and produced at an expenditure of $35,000.00.

Two flexible volumes—2700 double column octavo pages—printed on special Bible paper—nearly thousand illustrations with numerous halftones and maps in four colors, etc.

The Entire Contents of this Massive Five-Volume Set Are Contained in these two Handy, Flexible Volumes.

Both sets have the SAME NUMBER OF PAGES AND SAME SIZE OF TYPE, but new methods of bookmaking and the use of thin Bible paper have made the small convenient volumes possible.

The Practical American Encyclopedia is a master work in the art of bookmaking. The pages were but recently set up from especially cast type and printed from new plates from which impressions have never been previously taken, contains all new, up-to-date, thoroughly encyclopedic matter, covering a very wide range.

Don't confuse this work with the many so-called new Encyclopedias sometimes offered, which are merely patched-up editions that were originally published a decade ago.

The editorial staff is guided by Prof. Bernhart Paul Holst, an educator of wide experience, who has for the past twelve years devoted his time exclusively to encyclopedic work. Assisting are sixty well-known educators, principals of universities, state superintendents, college professors, historians, superintendents of schools, judges, army officers, United States and Canadian government officials and teachers from all parts of the United States and Canada selected for their particular ability in relation to subjects required—men who thoroughly understand the most approved way of using the English language in a practical, useful and concise Encyclopedia that will stand the test of daily use.

It includes every phase of discovery, invention, experience and belief, covers all epochs of literature, all forms of government, all systems of religion—all the glorious achievements that have made history luminous and civilization possible.

It treats with latest topics of public interest, i. e., Panama Canal, wireless telegraphy, reciprocity, political economy, the Polar expeditions, the progress of aviation, the great strides of the automobile industry, wonderful improvements in harvesting machinery, etc.

Bound in two styles, Vellum De Luxe cloth and Seal Grain American Morocco, indexed and sewn with fine linen thread, colored edges, heavy end sheets, side title and backbone embossed in gold and bound perfectly flexible, so that the volume can be taken between the thumb and fingers and covers bent clear back without the risk of injury.

We recommend that every dealer order a few sets—they are exceptional value. Similar sets sell by subscription at $19.50 to $30.

Assisted by Fred Hovey Allen,
L. L. D., Hiram Calkins, Jr.,
Geo. O. Holbrooks, M. A., Chas.
C. Stoddard, Ralph Crossman,
A. B. and others.

A complete authoritative one-volume Encyclopedia of the knowledge of the world. For quick reference. Right up to date.

FEATURES:

1. Completeness without diffusiveness.
2. Condensation without omission of essentials.
3. No important subject omitted.
4. No subject of permanent interest left out.
5. Written in popular language—not Academic or Technical.
6. Pronunciations indicated and when essential fully illustrated.
7. Derivations in interesting cases given.
8. Brief bibliographical reference given in important articles.
9. Contains many more articles than any other one volume encyclopedia.
10. All new from cover to cover.
11. Easy reference; subjects arranged in alphabetical order.
12. The literary quality, style and treatment of the articles convey an element of interest, as well as telling the "Story," displaying editorial freedom never before attempted.

13. With a series of the late Maps of the World in colors.

The student, scientist and thinker have time and inclination for exhaustive research; but the busy toilers appreciating that "knowledge is power," have neither time nor opportunity to acquire more than the essential facts, the essence of that knowledge.

In compiling this encyclopedia, the constant aim has been to give the pith, the gist, the plain facts of the subject treated clearly and succinctly without sacrificing quality of accuracy or completeness. Nothing of importance or permanent value left out. The sum of human knowledge, usually presented in voluminous encyclopedias, has been boiled down to its real essence in this condensed, complete, concise but correct, comprehensive, compact, record of human thought, investigation and achievement.

The knowledge of the world has been drawn upon, sifted and digested, and all subjects have been treated by skilled encyclopedists trained in the popular methods of furnishing much in little.

THIS VOLUME TREATS MORE SUBJECTS THAN ANY ONE-VOLUME ENCYCLOPEDIA EVER PRODUCED.

Its value to the clerk, business man, teacher, student and members of the family, is as great as the necessity for it is urgent. A source of accurate information for the general consultant, a help and inspiration to further study. This work should find its place on the near-by shelf where alone are kept the books for constant use.

Type—Absolutely new type plates, nearly 700 pages. Size of book $8\frac{1}{2} \times 6\frac{1}{2} \times 1\frac{1}{2}$ inch, printed on good white heavy weight bible paper.

Beautifully bound in full black morocco grain leather, flexible covers, round corners, red edges, head bands, Gold stamped. List Price, $3.00.

Hermann Sudermann

Hermann Sudermann

THE INDIAN LILY

$1.25 net

It is a story of gay Berlin life in which the author again displays his remarkable power of portraying womanhood. The plot concerns itself with the love of an affectionate woman and a "bon viveur" who has drunk deeply of the pleasures which life offers to those possessing wealth and easy morals. In a remarkable denouement author and reader seem to stand in the wings while Fate points the inevitable reaction of sin on the wrongdoer.

In the same book there will be six shorter stories, a cycle of womanhood. They disclose the sex in varying phases from the merely fleshly to the finest spiritual type. And, of course, each woman has an appropriate male foil. Again we find the same firm touch that makes all of Sudermann's characters stand out in vivid reality. Every one of the hundreds of thousands who read "The Song of Songs" (now in its 6th printing) will welcome this volume eagerly.

THE FOOL IN CHRIST

$1.50 net

A religious novel in which philosophic thought and poetic treatment are perfectly fused. It is a book for every person with a spark of religious instinct.

"Hauptmann has once more made himself the mouthpiece of the folk-soul. He has consciously or unconsciously replied to two questions that have been repeatedly asked in our time in no irreverent manner by religious and irreligious people: 'What would Christ do were he to come into the world to-day?' and 'What would the world do to a Christ to-day?'"

—THE NATION, in a review of the original German edition.

Ellen Key

Ellen Key

LOVE AND ETHICS

50 cents net

In her latest book the author deals chiefly with the influence of the ultra-modern spirit of the times on an effete conception of the moral law. She points out the need of a higher ethical ideal and greater freedom of choice in the relation between man and woman, and insists that the individual can attain his highest destiny only by a conscientious fulfillment of his duty to society. This supplements "Love and Marriage" in which she awakens the social consciousness by suggesting radical changes in our organization of society.

NEW ECLECTIC ENGLISH CLASSICS

Now Bound in Cloth. 49 Volumes

The 20 cent Series

THE volumes of this new edition have been reduced to pocket size, and are attractively bound in cloth. The notes and teaching apparatus of the texts have been carefully reviewed, revised, and where necessary extended by well-known teachers of English in secondary schools, or by teachers who have had experience in secondary school work. Each volume contains a sketch of the author's life and work, together with notes and such other helps as are necessary to a clear understanding of the text. The convenient arrangement of the notes at the foot of the page has been retained from the old edition, but in many cases critical notes, outlines, analyses, and suggestions for study have been added at the end of the book. The new edition meets the present needs of schools and the ideas of progressive, up-to-date teachers. It includes the texts most commonly studied and read for entrance to college, besides many other standard texts frequently used in schools. It is the lowest priced edition published, most of the volumes being but 20 cents. Complete list of the series will be sent on request.

THE FOUR FACES

P. S. Henson, D.D.

Dr. Henson's fame as a preacher is as wide as the continent. Whether in Philadelphia, Chicago or Boston, he spoke to large audiences and to their interest and profit. It was meet, therefore, that some of these pulpit utterances should be gathered up and perpetuated in book form. This volume performs that mission, and we are sure that those who heard and many who did not hear, will welcome this fact of publication.

CHUNDRA LELA

Z. F. Griffin

Chundra Lela was the daughter of a high-caste family in the province of Nepal, India, ruled by a native prince. Dr. Griffin, who for many years was a missionary in India, came in touch with her, and also into possession of details of her family life furnished by herself. Hence the story of her struggles and conversion and ministry is given in her own language to a very large extent.

These are only samples of hundreds of unbiased and intelligent commendations from the highest sources which establish the standing of the New International as the SUPREME AUTHORITY.

NEW YORK COURT OF APPEALS, Albany.

"An unsurpassed authority. The Definitions are full and exact; the quotations to illustrate the definitions numerous and well chosen; the synonyms discriminating and accurate, and the entire work stamped with industry and learning."

DR. C. H. PARKHURST, New York.

"An indispensable feature of the library of every man who either reads or writes."

SIR GILBERT PARKER, Novelist, London.

"A resource for the mind, and a court of appeal for the uncertain intelligence. I prize this great book with the miser's regard."

Recent Educational Books

THE ELEMENTARY COURSE IN ENGLISH. By JAMES FLEMING HOSIC.

"The Elementary Course in English" is a practical guide for teachers, supervisors, and parents. It presents in outline a working theory of elementary English, with selected references to the recent literature of the subject. In this way the book is well fitted for individual study and for group discussions in normal schools, teachers' reading circles, teachers' institutes, and parents' associations.

152 pages, 16mo, cloth; postpaid, 82 cents.

THE UNFOLDING OF PERSONALITY AS THE CHIEF AIM IN EDUCATION. By THISELTON MARK.

The wide experiences of the author in the teaching of elementary psychology to teachers and his personal work with children of all ages make this book a distinctly original contribution to the literature of child study.

224 pages, 12mo, cloth; postpaid, $1.07.

THE HIGHER EDUCATION AS A TRAINING FOR BUSINESS. By HARRY PRATT JUDSON.

"It is believed that a liberal education may provide not merely increased efficiency, but also so much wider comprehension of society and life as to enable one to be useful and to find interest in a multitude of ways not usual with one who is deprived of such an education."

56 pages, 12mo, cloth; postpaid, 55 cents.

THE NEW METHOD IN SECONDARY MATHEMATICS. By GEORGE W. MYERS, and the Instructors in Mathematics in the University of Chicago High School.

"It is quite safe to say that no one should attempt to teach Bible history without having thoroughly studied every page of Dr. Petrie's illuminative book. For popular use nothing of the kind has ever been published that will prove of greater value. For one thing, people will learn that if the Bible is to be understood we must get into its Oriental atmosphere and not examine it through Western telescopes."

Miller

HIGHER UP

RISE TO POWER

A Young American, of good fighting blood and hard fixed ideals, sets out to smash the political machine of his state, without compromise with evil. The great moment of his life comes when he must sacrifice his clean hands or ruin the father of the girl he loves. The creative genius and large power of the author are even more notable than in The Man Higher Up, Mr. Miller's preceding novel.
